GERMAN GUNS FIRE SALUTE

As Royal Wedding Is Solemnized Army and Navy Thunder Greeting.

ROYALTY ATTENDS

Many Scions of European Nobility Are Present at Service and Reception.

BERLIN IN FESTIVE MOOD

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

BERLIN, June 6.—Crown Prince Frederick William and Duchess Cecelia of Mecklenburg-Schwerin were married in the palace chapel this afternoon while the clock on the plaza marked 5. Batteries here and in every garrison town in Prussia, and on every sea where German warships floated, began firing a 21-gun salute at the same moment. In the chapel one of the most distinguished assemblages that could be gathered in Europe saw the simple wedding service of the Lutheran church.

Royalty Was There.

Some of the 60 to 70 members of the royal families present from German and foreign states were the Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria, representing Emperor Francis Joseph; the Grand Duke Michael of Russia, Prince Henry, consort of the queen of the Netherlands; the duke an duchess of Aosta, representing the king and queen of Italy; Prince Arthur of Connaught, representing Great Britain; Prince and Princess Albert of Belgium, the duke of Oporto, representing Portugal; Prince Ferdinand of Roumania and the crown princes of Denmark and Greece. These all stood in a wide circle around the altar, for there were no pews, and behind them, without regard to rank, were the members of the foreign embassies, with Ambassador Tower and Mrs. Tower among them; the cabinet ministers, a number of admirals, the commanders of army corps and many persons of the high nobility.

Was the Second Marriage.

The crown princess, for she was already crown princess by civil rite, came in on the arm of the crown prince. She was wearing a wreath of fresh myrtle on her head, over which was a small crown of diamonds and rubies in a gold frame, placed there by the empress. A triangle of diamonds rested on the front of her low-cut bodice and around her neck was a necklace of large diamonds. The wedding dress was of Russian silver brocade, with a train four and a half yards in length and two and a quarter yards wide attached to the shoulders. Four maids of honor in dresses of pale blue silk, the crown princess' favorite color, carried the train, and behind them walked two pages. The bridal veil was of old Brussels lace.

The crown prince wore the light blue uniform of the First foot guards with a major's insignia and his decorations. He carried his helmet in his hand.

Behind the bride and groom came the empress on the arm of the grand duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, brother of the bride, and the emperor, with the grand duchess Anastasia, mother of the bride. These and other members of the royal family stood at the right of the altar.

Mr. Dryander, the court chaplain, with nine of the cathedral clergy standing near him, performed the service.

Followed Old Custom.

At the conclusion of the service Dr. Dryander shook hands with the crown prince and kissed the hand of the crown princess. He then presented the bridal couple with a Bible, ornamentally bound. The emperor kissed the bride on both cheeks and then kissed his son, the empress doing likewise.

The bridal party slowly moved out, followed by the princes and princesses, but all others waited in the chapel. The dresses, jewels and uniforms contributed to a most brilliant picture.

After supper had been served, a torchlight dance, a unique practice at weddings in the house of Hohenzollern for centuries, was performed in a modified form by 12 pages, bearing thick candles about two and one-half feet tall. The crown prince took the hand of the crown princess and walked slowly behind the pages, keeping step to the music, around a quadrangle formed by men and women standing 10 feet deep along the sides of the drawing room, all bowing as the bridal couple passed. The emperor then led the crown princess and the crown prince led his mother around the same walk. Next the crown princess took each of the other princes and the crown prince around the hall, occasionally several at a time, so that precedure might not be disregarded. Once the Grand Duke Michael of Russia, the Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria, Crown Prince Gustaf of Sweden and the duke of Oporto were walking with the crown princess at the same time, two one either side.

This function came to a close about 9 o'clock, the wedding party having lasted more than four hours.

The honeymoon probably will be spent at Rubertusstocky, a hunting lodge in a large forest near Eberswalde, Prussia. This is a simple sort of house in the woods, where the emperor goes deer stalking.

ANOTHER HEAD IN WEAVER'S BASKET

Quaker City's Mayor Decapitates Assistant Director of Supplies Arthur Morrow.

DISMISSED CLERK GETS PLACE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Press Building.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., June 6.

Assistant Director of Supplies Arthur R. H. Morrow was the only official decapitated by Mayor Weaver today, but the ax is expected to resume its usual swing tomorrow. The places filled today were taken by men recommended by ex-Postmaster Thomas L. Hicks, assistant director of public works, and the active Wanamaker representative in Mayor Weaver's new cabinet.

Assistant Director Morrow, who was forced to resign today, has been under suspension for some time. He was charged with having been too energetic in the interest of the gas lease, but was denied a hearing by Mayor Weaver. Andrew P. Chism was appointed to succeed Morrow. Chism was formerly a clerk in the office of the receiver of taxes, and was removed by Morrow.

As successor to William H. Brooks, chief of the bureau of highways, Frank E. Smith was appointed. He was Brook's assistant.

It is said by close friends of Hicks that he will soon succeed Lincoln Acker, his chief, as director of the department of public works. Director Acker has large business interests and it is claimed he cannot neglect them for more than a month or two. He was selected to give the "revolution" a commercial tone, as was Col. Sheldon Potter, who contributes the social-military atmosphere.

The shake-up in the departments has extended to the police force. Today 25 policemen faced the police board of inquiry to answer various charges of dereliction of duty.

Mayor Weaver has sent to each of the banks and trust companies depositories of city funds a letter asking whether the rate of interest paid on city moneys on deposits, fixed by ordinance of councils in 1892 at 2 per cent, is as great as that paid to other depositors in an equal or smaller balance.

A president of one of the institutions declared today he would not give the mayor the information asked by him concerning the interest allowed on deposits, as it was a matter entirely with the bank, and that the only person having a right to that information is the comptroller of the currency of the United States treasury department.

The mayor was called upon today by a number of ministers and other men active in independent political circles. Among the visitors were Bishop McCabe of the Methodist church; the Rev. Dr. J. G. Wilson, presiding elder of the northwest district; former Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith and former Mayor Ashbridge. CHESTER D. POTTER.

LOSES $20,000 NECKLACE.

Mrs. Warburton, Daughter of John Wanamaker, Misses Her Pearls After Visit to Hairdresser.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—(Special.)—Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, wife of the publisher of the Evening Telegraph, and daughter of John Wanamaker, today lost a pearl necklace valued at $20,000.

Mrs. Warburton went to a hairdresser in Walnut street. Leaving there she started for the Bellevue-Stratford for luncheon. Before reaching the hotel she missed her necklace. Returning to the hairdresser's she was informed she had not left it there. The police and detective force have been called on, and a description of the necklace has been telegraphed to all the principal cities.

Prize Beads Kills Child.

CHICAGO, June 6.—A chemical analysis of toy beads obtained as a prize by a 5-year old girl named Henrietta Crisp revealed today that the beads contained enough arsenic to cause death. The child died after having put the beads in her mouth.

HEAVY THUNDERSTORM TERRIFIES CROWDS

Girl Injured in Panic at Kennywood Park—Avenue Theater Walls Cause Scare.

A terrific thunderstorm broke over Pittsburgh and Allegheny shortly before 10 o'clock last night. It was accompanied by a torrent of rain which continued in intermittent showers through the night. The storm came with little warning and caught the thousands in the streets who had not provided themselves with umbrellas. The people were driven to shelter in the doorways of buildings and under dripping awnings. Women in filmy gowns and lace hats were saturated by the driving rain.

High wind and blinding lightning caused a panic in Fifth avenue in front of the ruins of the Avenue theater. It was feared that the gale would blow down the tottering walls, and policemen on duty at the fire lines promptly drove back the crowds that were scurrying along the opposite sidewalk. When the real danger was revealed to the crowd there was no difficulty in clearing the street.

While the storm was at its height lightning struck a tree near the dancing pavilion in Kennywood park. A large crowd which had taken refuge in the pavilion was thrown into a panic and over 15 persons were injured, although but one of them seriously, Mary Coleman, aged 15, of Braddock, who was hurt during the rush to escape from the supposed danger.

Business houses in the lower portion of Braddock were partially inundated, and the telephone service of the entire town was out of order for five hours. The street car service was badly crippled, no cars being run from 10 o'clock last night until 1:30 o'clock this morning.

ADLER COMMITS SUICIDE.

Young Russian, Formerly of McKeesport, Takes Carbolic Acid in Cleveland, O.

CLEVELAND, O., June 6.—The dead body of Jacob Adler of McKeesport was found on the shore of Lake Erie at Collinwood, early this morning. A bottle that had contained carbolic acid was found by his side, and it is evident that he committed suicide.

Inquiries made last night developed the fact that Jacob Adler lived in McKeesport until two weeks ago, when he gave up his position in the jewelry store of M. Teplitz to go to Cleveland, where he intended to learn the tailoring business. He was 18 years old, and had come from Russia 11 months ago. Two of his brothers left Russia two months ago to escape being drafted into the army, and are now in this country. Two cousins of young Adler are in business in McKeesport—A. Goldberg and Joseph Pollock.

TWO DEATHS CAUSED BY GAS IN WELL

MARION, O., June 6.—Gas in a well caused the death of two persons and left two others in a critical condition here today. George Kramer went into the well to clear it, and feeling himself affected by the gas, he called for help. Mrs. Benjamin Kramer, his daughter-in-law, tried to rescue him and was herself overcome. Both of these are now dead. Benjamin Kramer and Harry Winters, who also attempted a rescue, were overcome and fell into the well, but were rescued by neighbors.

CARNEGIE SCIENTIST HAS DISAPPEARED

JEANNETTE, PA., June 6.—(Special.)—Henry Kieser, who is employed as an entomologist in the Carnegie museum, left his home Saturday morning for Pittsburgh expecting to return at noon. He took two cases of insects which he left at the museum and afterward had a check cashed at the bank. Nothing has been heard of him since. His wife went to Pittsburgh today to investigate, but failed to get any clue as to his whereabouts.

KIMBERLEY WILL PLACED ON FILE

Woman Who Followed Body from Chicago Said to Be Given Five Per Cent.

FUNERAL SERVICES AT SHARON

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

SHARON, PA., June 6.—The funeral of Peter L. Kimberly, who died Sunday morning at his apartments in Chicago, was held this afternoon. The body arrived from Chicago over the Erie railroad and was taken to St. John's Episcopal church. The funeral services were conducted by the rector, the Rev. Frank J. Mallett. The active pallbearers, old employes of the deceased, were: Albert Linn, William Dickson, W. G. Morgan, George Brown, David Jones, Ralph Herriott, Bert Moore and Thomas G. Davis. The floral tributes were beautiful and the services were largely attended. The members of the old Westerman lodge of the Amalgamated association attended the obsequies in a body.

The will of Mr. Kimberly was opened this afternoon following the funeral services, by his former attorney, James P. Whitla, in the presence of several witnesses, and was read by the lawyer; but none of those who are now acquainted with the contents of the document will talk.

Speculation has arisen over the extent, if any, to which Mrs. E. E. Asay will figure in the bequests. Mrs. Asay, who is a widow about 40 years old, accompanied the body here from Chicago. It is said she lived at the apartments where the millionaire died. Although the provisions of the will are being closely guarded, a rumor is current that Mrs. Asay is to receive 5 per cent of the estate, whose total value is estimated as little short of $8,000,000.

While in Sharon Mrs. Asay stayed at the Carver House. Amos Kimberly, a brother of the dead man, was in conversation with her there this afternoon. Mrs. Asay, who returned to Chicago this evening, said before boarding a train that she knew nothing of the provisions of Mr. Kimberly's will. It is stated that she will make no contest if the 5 per cent of the estate is given to her. The will was placed in charge of Clerk of Courts Moreland and will be probated tomorrow.

H. C. FRICK RESIGNS FROM PHILADELPHIA BANKS

James H. Hyde Is a Member of Boards of Directors of These Institutions.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—Henry C. Frick today resigned from the directorates of the Franklin National bank and Commercial Trust Company of this city. The boards of both institutions will meet tomorrow to act upon the resignations.

Both Mr. Frick and James H. Hyde have been associated with these two banking institutions for some time and have been accounted strong elements in the boards. Complications of great importance are likely to result from the action of Mr. Frick and the ramifications will be widespread. He is an intimate friend and business associate of A. J. Cassatt, and the president of the Pennsylvania railroad is also associated with Mr. Hyde.

There has been a very close relationship between the Pennsylvania railroad and the Equitable. Pennsylvania interests have been represented in the Equitable board by Mr. Cassatt and H. C. Frick. On the other hand, Equitable Life interests have been represented on the Pennsylvania board by T. DeWitt Cuyler, who is counsel for the insurance company. Growing out of this union the two big interests have been interwoven in local corporations.

Fatal Crossing Accident.

MONESSEN, PA., June 6.—(Special.)—In a grade crossing accident near Webster today August Bera was instantly killed and Jacob Pedan seriously injured.

HERRICK MAY HEAD EQUITABLE

Ohio Executive Said to Have Agreed to Accept the Chairmanship.

FOUR LEAVE BOARD

A. J. Cassatt, D. O. Mills, James A. Stewart and John Sloane Resign as Directors.

NEW YORK LIFE WANTS FRICK

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, June 6.

Myron T. Herrick, governor of Ohio, may be selected as the chairman of the Equitable Assurance society's board of directors. After a consultation with persons representing James Hazen Hyde, Gov. Herrick left the Waldorf-Astoria at 6 o'clock for his home in Cleveland. He had assured his visitors, it was said, that he was willing to take hold of the Equitable at a salary of $50,000 a year, providing he was given absolute freedom in his control of the society, and it was added that he was assured he would be unhampered in his management.

It was said tonight that Gov. Herrick, as the representative of a syndicate, had made a liberal cash offer for Mr. Hyde's stock holdings, so that if a transfer were made the control of the society would not only be vested in Gov. Herrick as chairman of the board with plenary powers, but, in fact, he would be in absolute control. The price offered was said to be in the neighborhood of $3,000,000, or about $1,000,000 more than Mr. Hyde was offered for his control of the Equitable two years ago, when a syndicate of Wall street men tried to buy out his interests. Mr. Hyde, it is said, declined Gov. Herrick's offer, but at the same time proferred to Mr. Herrick the newly created office of chairmanship of the board, which the governor of Ohio expressed his willingness to accept.

Gov. Herrick Is Acceptable.

There was a conference tonight, at which Mr. Hyde was present with his legal adviser, Samuel Untermeyer. There was a full and free discussion of the selection of a suitable man for the position of chairman of the board, and the selection of Gov. Herrick proved acceptable to all who were in attendance. At the meeting of the board of directors of the Equitable at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon there is a possibility that Gov. Herrick will be unanimously decided upon as chairman and that a committee will be appointed to wait upon the governor and formally tender to him the position. There is little prospect that this matter will be decided tomorrow because of the formalities that must be carried out.

There promises to be a very interesting meeting of the Equitable directors tomorrow. When James W. Alexander calls the meeting to order William Alexander, as secretary, will have several resignations to read. One will be from D. O. Mills, and another from A. J. Cassatt. James A. Stewart's will be in the secretary's hands, too, and John Sloane's will be at hand, as will also be that of Melville E. Ingalls, announced from Cincinnati yesterday. There may be others in the secretary's possession by tomorrow afternoon, but at any event there will be ten vacancies in the board to be filled. Those who have now severed their connection with the Equitable are: Henry C. Frick, E. H. Harriman, T. Jefferson Coolidge, A. J. Cassatt, John A. Stewart, Melville E. Ingalls, Jacob H. Schiff, Darius O. Mills, Cornelius N. Bliss and John Sloane.

Hyde Will Have Influence.

There are 52 members of the Equitable's board of directors when it has its full complement. On account of deaths there have been only 30 members of late, and now that resignations have followed each other so quickly there are only 40. The by-laws of the society provide that nine members shall constitute a working quorum, but 25 members probably will attend the meeting tomorrow. Mr. Hyde will, it is expected, exert considerable influence. At present there is little or no likelihood of any of the vacancies in the board being filled until the chairman has been decided upon, as the newly chosen officer is to be given an opportunity to surround himself so far as is possible with men of whose selection he approves.

No surprise would be felt if the following men resigned from the Equitable board: Charles Stewart Smith, J. P. Morgan, Marvin Hughitt, T. De Witt Cuyler, Robert T. Lincoln and David H. Moffat. In fact, it was said today that the withdrawal of these men was more than a probability. Henry C. Frick has not only resigned as a member of the Equitable's board, but he has left the directorate of the Mercantile Trust Company and the equitable Trust Company, two of the subsidiary companies of the society. Mr. Harriman, it was said, has, or intends to, follow Mr. Frick's example.

Denial By Mr. Kilburn.

Frederick D. Kilburn, state superintendent of banks, was in the city today, which gave rise to the report that Mr. Kilburn had probably come here because of the Equitable's affairs. When seen at his office, No. 32 Broadway, he said his presence had nothing whatever to do with the society's matters.

Mr. Hyde celebrated the 28th anniversary of his birth today. He received many congratulations and bouquets of violets were on his office desk.

From authoritative sources it was learned that the report of State Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks will be of a drastic character. While following the line of the Frick committee's report, it will be even more severe in its criticism of the officers of the society. A tentative draft of the report has been drawn, embodying the findings of the superintendent upon the testimony already before him.

WITHDRAW THE LIBEL SUITS

Counsel for "Hay Philips" Ask for Dismissal of All of the Cases.

WILL PAY THE COSTS

Judge Galbreath Declares Himself About Prosecutions Being Made in Open.

NERVOUS MAN IS NOW HAPPY

Special Telegram From WALTER J. CHRISTY, Staff Correspondent.

BUTLER, PA., June 6.—Attorneys for the mythical "Hay Philip" or "Philips" this afternoon appeared before Judge James M. Galbreath and withdrew the 12 informations for criminal libel made against Pittsburgh editors. The defendants were discharged and the costs placed on "Hay," but as he exists on paper only, the men who have hidden behind this assumed name will pay the freight and will prefer that no execution be asked.

When the informations were filed up in Butler against two Pittsburgh papers, the men who evolved this scheme for muzzling the press thought it would be easy to secure indictments. After that step they were not just sure what would be done with the indictments, but perhaps saw in them a club. They did not expect a fight. The Gazette refused that its prosecutors come out in the open. This paper went so far as to secure a subpoena and to offer a reward for "Hay," a step which is wholly unnecessary where the prosecution is legitimate and brought by persons who are not afraid to get into the limelight.

Had no fight been made by The Gazette, the man who slipped into Butler and signed the name of "Hay Philip" or "Philips" to 10 informations could probably have appeared before the grand jury and he would have been accepted as genuine. When it became necessary to produce a real living and live "Hay Philip" or "Philips" in the face of the charge of Judge Galbreath to the grand jury that every prosecution must have a bona fide prosecutor, there had to be a change in the program. District Attorney Samuel Walker of Butler county would have insisted that the identity of the prosecutor be settled. The other Butler attorneys who were acting for the mysterious client received him from the hands of the "chief counsel" in Pittsburgh and no doubt thought him genuine.

Judge Declares Himself.

When these cases were dismissed Judge Galbreath said that in the future every prosecution brought in his court would have to be open and above board. He made it clear the prosecutor must be somebody and stand for something and can be found when wanted.

The prosecutions were withdrawn on the ground that the informations were defective. It is promised that new informations will be made based on the same charges. It is not clear, however, whether "Hay" is to be used as prosecutor. S. F. Bowser, one of the assistant counsel, says that will be a question for the "fellows in Allegheny" to decide. If the "fellows in Allegheny" come back to Judge Galbreath's court they will find it necessary to bring a prosecutor in the flesh.

Gilbert E. Persons, director of the Perkins detective agency, who has been endeavoring to find "Hay" for The Gazette, was in Butler today. He is of the opinion that an Allegheny county man who came here last night and remained about town today, could tell all about "Hay" and probably sign the bond. This individual was extremely nervous and appeared to be very much relieved when the informations were withdrawn.

These cases have attracted a great deal of attention in Butler county. The taxpayers could not understand why they should be called upon to bear the heavy expense of litigation which rightfully belonged in Allegheny county. Had the cases gone to trial it would have cost Butler county a large amount of money. The people wanted to see "Hay" and had it been possible to produce him, there would not have been sufficient space in the court house to hold the crowd.

Mr. Marshall Was Ill.

The court yesterday fixed 2 o'clock this morning as the time for the hearing on the petition filed by William S. Scott, managing editor of The Gazette, praying for the discharge of the rules on the ground the prosecutor did not exist. Former Judge John M. Greer, James N. Moore and Lee McQuiston, counsel for the defendants, were present and ready to go into a hearing. S. F. Bowser, for the prosecution asked for a continuance until tomorrow morning on the ground that J. D. Marshall, another of the assistant prosecuting attorneys, was ill. The defendants' lawyers objected to this and Judge Galbreath fixed 2 o'clock this afternoon as the hour and announced there would be no continuance. Shortly before that time Mr. Marshall was on the floor of the court house, but did not appear in the court room. He has not taken any part in any of the arguments in the case this week.

Mr. Bowser asking the privilege of being heard first, saying that he thought he could bring the hearing to a speedy close. He made a motion for the withdrawal of all the informations. It was couched in the following language:

Now June 6, 1905, the counsel for the commonwealth being satisfied that the informations in the above stated cases are defective in form under the rulings of the courts, and new informations having been prepared, which will be followed by the arrests of the defendants at an early date on the same charges, the informations in the above cases are hereby withdrawn with permission of the court.

The motion was signed by District Attorney Walker, S. F. Bowser, W. B. Mathews and J. D. Marshall.

Say Costs Will Be Paid.

Mr. Moorhead asked the court to grant the motion made by the defendants yesterday and that the costs be placed on Philip" and a process issue for him. "We contend," said he, "that the name is assumed. Some man appeared before the magistrate and gave this fictitious name. Some one is liable for the costs and effort should be made to produce 'Philip.'"

Mr. Bowser assured the court the costs would be paid.

Judge Galbreath said he would grant the order asked by the prosecution. If the costs are not paid he promised that an effort would be made to find "Philip."

Judge Greer said the cases were of the most unusual character. He thought a process should issue for the alleged prosecutor.

It was at this point that Judge Galbreath said: "I want it understood that prosecutions in this court must be above board and as open as the day. If prosecutions are to be urged to trial in Butler county, they must be made in the open. We must know who is behind them.

"Once for all this court wants it known prosecutions must be made by some person who represents some one and something and can be found when wanted."

Mr. Bowser said: "If the prosecutions are made again the prosecutor will be here to confront the accused."

The judge said he did not reflect on the assistant counsel in the case and remarked that all he knew about the facts were that a subpoena had been issued for the prosecutor and a reward offered and the man could not be found.

Juggling With Justice.

Mr. McQuiston said: "In my opinion an attempt has been made in these cases to juggle with justice."

Judge Galbreath announced that if the costs were not paid within a stated period, he would endeavor to have "Philip" located. The attorneys for the prosecution again announced that the costs would be paid. It will not be necessary to find "Hay" to get the money. District Attorney Walker said after the hearing he had been assured the costs would be paid.

Mr. McQuiston inquired of Mr. Murrin why the motion to withdraw the cases had not been made this morning.

Mr. Murrin replied: "We were waiting until after all of the trains were in."

The order made by Judge Galbreath is as follows:

June 6, 1905, the informations on which the indictments in these cases are predicated being defective, the said bills of indictment are dismissed at the cost of the prosecutor, Hay Philip, who is hereby directed to pay the same, and the defendants are discharged from arrest.

Justice H. W. Christie, who took the informations, was in court to identify the mythical prosecutor. Another witness for the defense was John Ginnell, assistant superintendent of the Allegheny county workhouse. Justice Christie said he was undecided whether he would accept any more informations.

Walker Did not Know "Hay."

District Attorney Walker was told that "Hay" would be produced if he was needed before the grand jury. This morning he was asked if he had seen the prosecutor. His reply was:

"At breakfast a man was pointed out to me and I was told he was 'Hay Philip.'"

Mr. Bowser was asked concerning the new informations he says are to be made. He replied that he had been advised by the "chief counsel" in Pittsburgh that prosecutions would be instituted. He could not tell when they would reach him. He also declined to reveal the identity of the "chief counsel."

When asked whether "Hay" would again be used as the prosecutor he replied:

"That's up to the fellows in Allegheny."

Mr. Bowser said he and Mr. Murrin were satisfied two weeks ago that the informations were defective. In his opinion the Butler courts are much more particular than those in Allegheny county. The informations withdrawn today were prepared in Allegheny county and sent out to Butler. "Hay" carried them, but he was not willing to go to the grand jury room, where District Attorney Walker, with all the characteristics of the much-talked of Missourian, was waiting to receive him and be shown.

GRAFT CASE DELAYED.

Courts Adjourned to Allow the Judges to Attend the Funeral of Mrs. Collier.

It is expected the graft trials will be called in criminal court this morning. One of the cases was scheduled yesterday, but owing to the fact that the criminal courts were engaged in other cases until noon, and an adjournment took place to give the judges an opportunity to attend the funeral of Judge Collier's wife, it was found impossible to get the case up.

Many Allegheny officials and payroll men were conspicuous about the court house yesterday. The members of the present jury panel will all be investigated, however, and the district attorney will use every effort to see that none but impartial jurymen are selected for the next trials.

SHORT GRACE IS GIVEN ENQUIST

Czar's Admiral Must Clear Manila in 24 Hours, Including Time Spent Getting Supplies.

PRESIDENT'S STAND IS FIRM

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 6.

President Roosevelt today declined to recede from the direction he gave yesterday that three Russian cruisers, Aurora, Oleg and Jemtchug, which recently sought refuge in Manila, must leave that port within 24 hours, or intern there until the end of the war. This statement, issued by the bureau of insular affairs, war department, tells the story:

The secretary of war is in receipt of a cablegram from Gov. Wright, announcing that Secretary Taft's instructions of yesterday had been formally transmitted to the Russian admiral, and at the same time inquiry was made whether the admiral would be required to put to sea within 24 hours after taking on coal and provisions sufficient to take his ships to their nearest home port. It was stated that up to this time only enough coal and sufficient food supplies to last from day to day had been given for use in harbor, as the ships arrived in Manila with practically no coal or provisions.

Gov. Wright submitted the question as to whether they were entitled to take on coal and provisions to carry them to the nearest port. Gov. Wright was advised the president directed that the 24 hours limit must be strictly enforced; that necessary supplies and coal must be taken on within that time; those instructions being consistent with those of June 5, stating that if the Russian admiral's ships were suffering from damages due to battle, the American policy was to restrict all operations of belligerants at neutral ports. In other words, time should not be given for repairs of damages suffered in battle.

President Roosevelt announced this afternoon that the 24 hours' limit for Admiral Enquist to depart would be counted from the time today's instructions were delivered to him. So, in reality, Rear Admiral Enquist's request has gained him a day. It is thought he was probably simply seeking time in which to get definite orders from his government.

MANILA, June 7.—At 11 o'clock this morning President Roosevelt's order was delivered to Rear Admiral Enquist. He has asked for further time, pending advices from St. Petersburg.

MUM'S THE WORD LEST CZAR TAKE OFFENSE

President and Diplomats Agree It Is Best to Be Silent on Subject of Peace Conference.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Pending the decision of the czar regarding war or peace in the far east, the president and the European ambassadors with whom he is daily conferring, have agreed that silence regarding their activities is necessary. Word to this effect has been passed along, lest Russia take offense and go contrary to what the neutral powers believe to be for her own advantage.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, remains without advices from St. Petersburg that throw any light on the probable policy of the czar. The resignation of M. Delcasse, it is believed here, will be to increase the opportunity of the president and the ambassadors at Washington in the efforts toward peace negotiations.

Sir Mortimer Durand, the British ambassador, will have a long talk with the president in the next day or two. Baron Speck von Sternburg, the German ambassador, will be in Washington again in the next few days, and Mr. Jusserand, the French ambassador, saw the president this morning.

LINEVITCH IS CONFIDENT HE CAN WHIP JAPANESE

Commander of Czar's Army Declares Naval Disaster Has Not Interfered With His Plans One Whit.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

HEADQUARTERS OF THE RUSSIAN ARMY, GODZYADANI, MANCHURIA, June 6.—Undismayed by Rojestvensky's defeat, and full of confidence as to the outcome of the approaching battle, Lieut. Gen. Linevitch is for continuing the war. He believes the Manchurian army is now strong enough to assume the aggressive. He said today:

"Most certainly I am for war. I am a soldier. The emperor's will is naturally my law, but my voice now, as before, is for the continuance of the fight. Our defeat at sea has not interfered with my plans one whit. I consider myself strong enough now not only to hold my ground but even to advance. I firmly believe I can and will defeat the Japanese in Manchuria.

"I have asked the war office to send me reservists of the youngest classes instead of older ones, not because the latter make poor soldiers, but because, with plenty of young and vigorous reservists, it would be unjust as well as inadvisable to call the older men from their more settled life."

Try to Lure Linevitch.

GUNSHU PASS, MANCHURIA, June 6.—The Japanese appear to be withdrawing to the southward along their whole front. It is thought that this is perhaps a maneuver to entice Lieut. Gen. Linevitch from his prepared positions.

RICE TO SUCCEED DEAN.

Report from Reliable Source Is That the Governor Will Appoint Him to the Supreme Bench.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—(Special.)—From a reliable source the information is current tonight that Gov. Pennypacker will appoint President Judge Charles E. Rice of the superior court to fill the supreme court vacancy caused by the death of Justice Dean.

It is probable that the Republican state committee will nominate Judge Rice and that he will be elected at the general election in November.

BOSTON, June 6.—The last will of the late J. Montgomery Sears, Boston's largest taxpayer, which deposes of an estate of about $25,000,000, has disappeared. Mr. Sears' attorneys turned the document over to him. It is said, several months ago, but though a previous will executed many years ago has been found, the family has been unable to discover the slightest trace of the second document.

FAIRMONT, W. VA., June 6.—Robert Lowe, aged 86 years, father of present Prosecuting Attorney Scott C. Lowe of this city, known throughout West Virginia as "Open-handed Lowe," and the wealthiest man in the county, was killed at the Watson station on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad this afternoon. In 1888 he was elected a representative to the legislature and served four years. His hospitality was his main characteristic, and made for him the name "Open-handed Lowe."

WAR PARTY'S BACK HAS BEEN BROKEN

Czar's Brother-in-Law, Uncle and Even Alexieff Now Urge Peace on Him.

MR. ROOSEVELT IS FAVORED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 7.—Beyond the statement that the advisability of confiding the opening of peace negotiations to President Roosevelt in the event Emperor Nicholas shall have decided the time has arrived to indicate to Japan Russia's desire to end the struggle, was presented in a favorable light, no announcement can be made regarding the result of Foreign Minister Lamsdorff's audience with the emperor on the subject of Count Cassini's dispatch communicating the president's practical tender of good offices.

It can, however, be stated that Grand Duke Vladimir Michaelovitch, the emperor's brother-in-law, who undoubtedly exercises a greater personal influence with his majesty than any other member of the imperial family, and who, until the disaster to the Russian fleet, was the most uncompromising advocate of war to the last ditch, has joined Grand Duke Vladimir, uncle of the emperor, in counseling the conclusion of peace.

Grand Duke Vladimir, at a recent family council, while urging the futility of continuing the struggle, stoutly maintained that the loss of Manchuria, and even of a portion of eastern Siberia, would not mean the ruin of Russia's prestige, but that she could continue to grow in influence and power, just as Great Britain did after the loss of her American colonies.

Another important convert made by the advocates of peace is Admiral Alexieff. With Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, Grand Duke Vladimir and Admiral Alexieff on the side of peace, the backbone of what has been denominated the war party seems to have broken. Nevertheless the final word rests with the emperor himself.

PARIS, June 6.—A dispatch to the semi-official Temps from St. Petersburg this afternoon says: "It is learned from an authoritative source that the unanimous efforts of the ministers are directed toward peace, and that they hope to succeed shortly."

NEW WABASH OFFICIALS INSPECT THE BRANCHES

Vice President Worthington Is Much Pleased With the Busy West Side Belt Line.

B. A. Worthington, the new first vice president of the Wabash lines east of Toledo, spent a busy day in this city yesterday, and before leaving had seen every part of the local terminals under the personal escort of President F. A. Delano.

In a special train leaving the Wabash station shortly after 9 o'clock the party went up the West Side Belt to Clairton, and then returned for a trip over the line down to the company's Ohio river terminals at the mouth of Sawmill run. In the afternoon they visited the Duquesne way and South Side branch line locations.

Mr. Worthington was greatly pleased with the condition and character of construction of the West Side Belt. Superintendent C. V. Wood was kept busy answering questions about the details of the road's construction. Several miles of freight cars were passed on the trip, the amount of the tonnage already moving over the line surprising the party. The temporary freight station inside the passenger station trainshed was very busy yesterday.

Late in the afternoon the visitors went west over the Wabash. They will go over the Wheeling & Lake Erie's branches, and then President Delano will continue over the Wabash proper. Mr. Worthington is expected here tomorrow to take up the duties of his office.

UNITED TERMINAL ROADS

J. B. Van Wagoner Is Chosen President of "Greater Pittsburgh Belt Line," Formed Yesterday.

At a meeting today at the offices of the American Waterworks and Guarantee Company, Pittsburgh Bank for Savings building, the two local terminal railroads recently bought at sheriff's sale were consolidated into one. The line is known as the Greater Pittsburgh Belt Line railroad.

This road is formed by uniting the Monongahela & Streets Run and the Consolidated Terminal railroad companies. The president, elected yesterday, is J. B. Van Wagoner, who is connected with the American Waterworks Company.

Much reticence is being observed concerning the line, and the financial backing, if there is any, is being kept quiet for the present. It is believed the road is being put into shape to make a deal with the Erie railroad.

NO USE FOR LEGISLATION.

State and Municipal Control Is Constant Menace Says President of Electric Light Body.

DENVER, COL., June 6.—President Ernest H. Davis of the National Electric Light association, in his address at the opening of the association's annual convention in this city today, said:

"The one great and constant menace to the industry is unwise, burdensome and restrictive legislation by the municipality and the state. The right to tax is the power to destroy. The power to regulate contains the germ of the danger of confiscation in whole or in part. The regulation of the industry by a commission, with powers such as are vested in the gas and electric commission of Massachusetts, may be proper and satisfactory as safeguarding the rights of the public and of the investor, but regulation by a commission brought into being by a manufactured public sentiment, and having its inception in politics, cannot be fair either to the public or to the investor."

ARREST OF AGED MERCHANT MAY LEAD TO INVESTIGATION

Frank Howe, a barkeeper of Allegheny, and James Fritch, a merchant of Brushton, the latter 74 years old, were arrested yesterday by Policeman Charles Johnston. According to the police report the men were fighting at Frankstown avenue and Station street. Fritch, who had considerable money and three checks, was released on a forfeit. He was very indignant and threatened to bring the matter to the attention of Director Moore. He stated he was standing at the corner waiting for a car when the officer grabbed him and marched him to the patrol box.

A Tired Stomach

Does not get much good for you out of what you eat, for it does not digest much—it is wasteful. It feels sore and lame and is easily distressed and often upset by food. The best treatment is a course of which is positively unequalled for all stomach troubles.

DEMOCRATS TURN OUT IN LARGE NUMBERS

Best Attendance in Years at Conventions in Various Parts of the State.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

FRANKLIN, June 6.—The Democrats of Venango county showed signs of rejuvenation in their convention today, which was the largest since 1895—the last year the Hon. Joseph C. Sibley was identified with the party. The Hon. R. F. Glean, who was nominated for judge, sprang a surprise on the convention by announcing that he would carry his canvass on an anti-saloon platform. This will give the voters an opportunity to decide whether or not they want the saloon, since Judge Creswell, the Republican candidate, has from year to year granted licenses. The other candidates on the ticket are: Treasurer, George Short, Oil City; register and recorder, Frank F. Weber, Oakland; prothonotary, Arthur S. Martin, Franklin; county commissioners, Jared A. Frank, Sugar Creek, and A. C. Laughlin, Oil City; auditors, E. J. Hutchinson, Polk, and Harry Reesinger, Mineral township.

MEADVILLE—The Democratic convention today was well attended, 84 out of 85 delegates answering the roll call. The ticket so far nominated is as follows:

Sheriff, C. T. Clark, Rockdale; prothonotary, Arthur L. Hazen, Venango; treasurer, Ascal H. Roudebush, Blooming Valley; district attorney, T. E. Henrietta, Meadville; county commissioners, M. G. Beatty, West Meadville, and Patrick Cronin, Centerville; county auditors, E. H. Forney, Titusville, and John Krider, West Shenango. The nomination for clerk of courts and register and recorder were postponed and a committee of five appointed to fill vacancies. Attorney Thomas J. Prather was elected county chairman.

INDIANA.—The Democratic county convention met here this afternoon and was one of the largest in years, there being 124 delegates present out of a possible 127. Ben West was nominated for county commissioner on the first ballot over five other candidates. H. S. Buchanan, the present city auditor, was renominated to succeed himself over Frank Douglass on the first ballot.

These two offices are the only ones in which there is any chance of an election. Franklin Sansome, editor of the Democrat, was made county chairman. G. D. Patrick was nominated for sheriff. The office of prothonotary was held over for the county committee to name at a later date. Harry W. Fee was named as delegate to the state convention.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

READING, June 6.—The enthusiasm of the civil war veterans gathered here for the 39th annual state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic rose to a patriotic demonstration this evening with the arrival of National Commander-in-Chief W. W. Blackmar of Boston. Tonight the encampment opened with an immense campfire in the Academy of Music. It was presided over by Thomas G. Semple, past department commander. Mayor Ergerbert delivered an address of welcome and the response was made by Past Commander-in-Chief Thomas J. Stewart. This was followed by an address by Commander-in-Chief Blackmar and a dozen others prominent in the councils of the order.

Up to this evening 1,500 veterans had arrived and of these fully 750 were delegates to the state encampment, which will open its business session tomorrow. Uniontown, Fayette county, Gettysburg, Lancaster and Lock Haven, want the convention next year.

At the 25th annual convention of the state encampment of the Women's Relief Corps this afternoon a report was submitted with reference to the memorial home at Brookville, Pa. The 20th annual session of the state convention of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic was opened this afternoon. The report of the directors of the home, located at Hawkins station, near Pittsburgh, was considered until adjournment.

Echo of Laurel Run Wreck.

UNIONTOWN, June 6.—The second damage suit growing out of the Duquesne limited wreck at Laurel Run, December 23, 1903, ended in a non-suit this afternoon. Mrs. Lillian Smallwood of Cumberland, Md., claimed $20,000 damages for the death of her husband, Brent F. Smallwood. The railroad did not deny damages, but was unwilling to pay the sum asked. The defense moved for a compulsory non-suit, which was granted.

WEST VIRGINIA GOES BACKWARD

Second Congressional District Carried by Democrats, Despite Republican Majority.

DAVIS WINS BY A THOUSAND

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GRAFTON, W. VA., June 6.—Estimated based upon incomplete returns, received up to midnight, indicate that the Second congressional district has reversed a normal Republican majority of about 2,000 and elected Col. Thomas B. Davis of Keyser, Democrat, by a majority of more than 1,000 to fill the vacancy created by President Roosevelt's appointment of Alston G. Dayton to a federal judgeship in this state. His opponent was James S. Lakin, a merchant of Preston county.

Davis is a brother of Henry G. Davis, late Democratic candidate for vice president. He is 71 years old, a millionaire and associated with his brother and Senator Elkins in several railroad and coal companies. He was a candidate for congress in 1900 and was defeated by Dayton.

It was the first election under the new registration law and the vote was light throughout the district. No speaking campaign was made, but the newspaper discussions were supplemented by the sending out of large quantities of literature. The Democrats made the recent change in the tax laws of the state the issue.

Lakin's estimated majority in Preston, his home county, will be 1,800, a Republican loss of 328. In Monongalia 27 out of 2 precincts reporting, indicate a Republican loss in the county of 284. Tucker will give Davis 200 majority, a Republican loss of 341; Mineral, 400 for Davis, a Republican loss of 537; Taylor, 300 for Lakin, a Republican loss of 107; Morgan, 150 for Lakin, a Republican loss of 216. Berkeley is reported a standoff, a Democratic loss of 242, and Jefferson's estimated majority of 1,200 for Davis is a loss of 130. Hampshire, Hardy and Grant counties are not likely to report until tomorrow.

WHEELING, W. V., June 6.—Ex-Gov. A. B. White and Senator N. B. Scott tonight conceded the election of Davis by 1,000.

Fully 2,500 people were there last night. The high class animals will come under the hammer today, when at 1 o'clock 500 of the best ever brought together at a sale in Pittsburgh will begin to be offered.

These horses come from such farms as the Irvington stock farm, Sewickley Heights, owned by W. D. Henry, and will have many future show winners among the number. Immense crowds are expected at the afternoon and electric light sales today and tomorrow. Tonight Frank Ogles of Baltimore will go on the block and there will be music during the lulls. The sale concludes Friday.

POWER TO SETTLE STRIKE.

Teamsters' Joint Council Delegates it to Committee Who Will Confer With Employers.

CHICAGO, June 6.—The teamsters' joint council tonight appointed a committee with full powers to settle the strike, and tomorrow a conference will be arranged with the employes. President Shea was not present at the council's meeting.

Destitution has entered the ranks of men thrown out of work on account of the teamsters' strike. Hundreds of families are without support. Benefits paid by the unions in many cases are said to be inadequate to keep up large families. Added to the strikers have been many who lost positions because of the business depression directly attributed to labor trouble.

STICKS TO HIS POST.

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—(Special.)—With his left arm broken and bandaged in a sling, Judge John B. McPherson of the United States court today furnished an example of devotion to duty which elicited many expressions of admiration from his fellow judges, members of the bar, court officials and friends, who learned of the painful injury he had sustained a few days ago.

While taking a spin in the country on his bicycle last Saturday, Judge McPherson was run into by another cyclist and thrown from his wheel. In falling heavily to the ground his left arm was broken.

LABORER ON IRON ROOF DIES FROM A SHOCK

Saw Comes in Contact With a Live Wire—Three Persons Run Down. Cocaine Kills One.

Dow Wooley, aged 32, a negro laborer, of No. 1718 Webster avenue, was electrocuted yesterday afternoon at Luna park while at work. William Rausch, a carpenter, was shocked at the same time and his hands were burned. Wooley was helping Rausch, who was working on a metal roof. Wooley was sawing a hole through the roof and it is supposed the tool came in contact with an insulated wire underneath. The current was transmitted to the roof and through the saw. Wooley caught the full force of the current, while Rausch escaped with burned hands.

Early yesterday morning he asked for a glass of water, which his wife got for him. She left the room and Simmer took the poison. As he was sleepy, it is supposed he did not measure the dose accurately.

Cox, member of the borough council of Homestead, who has repeatedly declared that graft was flourishing in that borough and whose motion for an investigation was voted down by council Monday night, declared yesterday he would now take the matter into the courts and promises a sensation equal to the one following the movement in Allegheny.

TORTURE AND HUMILIATION

For Fifteen Years Face and Body Mass of Itching Sores—Could Not Express Suffering—Doctors Failed—Had Lost Hope.

CURED BY CUTICURA AT COST OF $1.25

"My head was one mass of scabs, my forehead was covered down almost to my eyebrows, and I had to wear my hat all the time. My body was covered with spots in size from a pinhead to as large as a silver dollar. A white, crusty scab would form and itch, and words cannot express the torture and humiliation I suffered for fifteen years. I tried many doctors, and all kinds of treatments, but could get no help, and I thought there was no hope for me. A friend told me to get Cuticura. I did, and in three days my head was as clear as ever. I applied the Ointment night and morning, also taking a hot bath three times a week, and using the Ointment freely after the bath. After using one cake of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was completely cured, without mark or blemish. I was so pleased I felt like running down the street to tell every one I met what Cuticura had done for me. If anyone is in doubt about this, they may write to me. (Signed) H. B. Franklin, 717 Washington St., Allegheny, Pa."

DIRECTORS MUST ELECT PRINCIPAL

Controllers Protect Teachers Who Testified Before Investigation Committee.

SCHOOL FIGHT GROWS BITTER

A surprise was sprung last night at the regular monthly meeting of the Allegheny board of school controllers, on the three members of the Seventh ward school board who favor the retention of Principal E. P. Johnston. The three members opposing Principal Johnston presented a paper nominating the present corps of teachers in the Seventh ward except Principal Johnston, substituting for Johnston the name of Edward Bach, an instructor in Johnstown.

The Seventh ward board last Wednesday night did not elect a principal or teachers, the opponents of Johnston voting against any election then and against a motion to hold a meeting later to elect.

The nominations presented to the controllers last night were signed by Dr. I. N. Lear, president of the Seventh ward board; W. S. Genter and August Hingst. The names of the other three members, James Wettach, David Hunnel and Louis Yeager did not appear. The latter declared no meeting of the board had been held since last Wednesday night.

Refused to Confirm Principal.

The board of controllers refused to confirm the choice of Mr. Bach as principal and referred the election of a principal back to the local board, but all the old teachers of the Seventh ward were re-elected.

President D. B. Oliver related briefly the action taken by the controllers in regard to the Seventh ward. He said a committee had been appointed to investigate the charges of irregularity and all the teachers of the Seventh ward had testified before this committee after being assured that their positions would not be endangered by appearing as witnesses.

Mr. Oliver said that it had been stated that the Seventh ward board proposed to punish certain teachers for giving damaging testimony and he declared the board of controllers was bound in good faith to keep the pledge made by the committee to the teachers. W. T. Bradberry, a member of the investigating committee, also took the position that the board should stand by the teachers. He said the investigation had been carried up to a certain point and there suspended to prevent scandal.

May Elect Two Principals.

A. B. Angney had made a motion that the election of both principal and teachers be referred back to the Seventh ward board. At the suggestion of President Oliver this was amended so as to provide that the board elect the teachers and refer the election of principal back to the local board. This was done.

James Wettach, one of the members of the Seventh ward board supporting Principal Johnston, said last night that if the board again deadlocked on Johnston that his faction would support two candidates against Bach. There is now only one principal in the Seventh ward, but Mr. Wettach said it is proposed to elect principals for both the Spring Garden and Spring Hill schools, giving the former a salary of $1,800 a year and the other $1,600. He said the candidates of his faction, in case Johnston withdraws, will be J. E. Donnell of Turtle Creek, and M. C. Gordon of the Indiana State Normal school.

Two Changes Are Made.

The teachers of other wards were elected as presented, there being but two changes. Prof. J. Turner being elected to take the place of E. D. Coffey of the Eighth ward, and M. Foster to take the place of R. M. Shepard of the Eleventh ward. W. G. Mears and William A. Davis were elected as musical directors and Dr. Herman Grothe as superintendent of physical culture. Miss Mary Garretson was re-elected as supervisor of drawing at an increase of salary from $1,100 to $1,200 a year, an amendment to make the salary $1,500 a year being voted down.

The Real Estate Trust Company was made the depository of the school fund, its bid of 4½ per cent being the highest submitted.

The salary of the principal of the high school was increased from $2,000 to $2,500 and that of Principals Jeremiah Tingley and H. M. Farren from $1,000 to $1,400, with the right to carry the title of professor.

GALA DAY FOR ORPHANS.

Children from Local Insitutions Will Ride in Automobiles and Will Visit Luna Park.

Changes were made last night in the route to be taken this morning by the automobiles which are to take the orphans of Pittsburgh and Allegheny on an outing. Automobiles which go to Allegheny will form in Ridge avenue at 9:30 o'clock and move to Marion avenue, to Ohio street, to Federal street and over the Sixth street bridge to Penn avenue, to Ninth street, to Liberty street, to Seventh avenue and out Grant boulevard to Bellefield street.

At Bellefield street and Center avenue the Allegheny division will be met by the Pittsburgh section. The whole body of automobiles, nearly 100 in number, will then go through Schenley park and along Beechwood boulevard to Highland park. The exit from this park will be by Stanton avenue. They will then move down North Highland avenue to Howe street, to Aiken avenue, to Westminster avenue, to Amberson avenue, to Bayard street to Craig street and Luna park.

If it is raining at 9 o'clock this morning the outing will be postponed till tomorrow. Arrangements have been made at the bridges not to collect toll of the cars engaged in the parade, the toll to be paid afterward. Five cars have been added to the list of those already offered, and have been assigned to report as follows: J. M. Bentley, Ridge avenue and Grant street, Allegheny; A. W. Phillips, St. Joseph's Orphan asylum; Miss Margaret A. Sands, Memorial Home for Crippled Children; A. B. Berger and Ralph Clemson, United Presbyterian Orphans' Home.

Three cardinal points should be considered in seeking a depositary for savings or surplus funds—management—past record—financial strength. The Pittsburgh Bank for Savings of this city has been in business nearly 50 years; its assets exceed $14,000,000 and its management is in the hands of men well and favorably known in banking and business circles.

URGES CHANGES IN POSTAL LAWS

Charles W. Burrows of Cleveland Addresses Social Meeting of the M. and M.

ERIE WANTS THE SHIP CANAL

Five addresses made notable last evening the fifth social meeting of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, held at the Hotel Schenley. The leading address was a carefully-prepared treatment of "The Postal Laws of the United States as Related to its Business Interests," by Charles W. Burrows, the Cleveland publisher. Mr. Burrows spoke for an hour and argued for an increase in the mailing charges on second-class matter, claiming it is this class of matter which causes the annual deficit in the postal revenues, and that with a fair charge the rate on letters could be reduced to one-half cent, in place of 2 cents.

Following the address of Mr. Burrows came an eloquent speech by Albert B. Osborne, president of the chamber of commerce of Erie. Taking as his subject "Materialism and the Ideal," Mr. Osborne made a ringing plea for the better things of life, and claimed that Pittsburgh had made itself the typical American city by its care for the idealities in the midst of its industrial wealth. "The hum of industry has never been allowed to still that other music in which Pittsburgh is rich," he said. He referred to the Lake Erie and Ohio river ship canal as nearing realization after years of dreaming, and urged that one branch of it should extend to Presque Isle harbor at Erie, thus tying together more closely two Pennsylvania cities which are historically of close relation.

W. H. Webb, a former member of the Kansas City Commercial club, spoke with much force upon his impressions of Pittsburgh and the spirit and work of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association.

George W. Guthrie, Esq., was to have spoken, but a business call east prevented his attending.

President E. J. Lloyd of the association spoke briefly upon the growth of the association, and claimed that the way is indicated to the membership reaching the 5,000 mark.

The concluding address was made by J. W. Wardrop, secretary and general manager of the association, who spoke upon the "Lessons From the Congressional Committee's Trip to Cairo." He urged the necessity for united action of all the people of the Ohio valley in pushing the improvement, and gave a description of the impression the trip had made on the congressmen.

The meeting ended with a speech of thanks by Homer L. Castle on behalf of the visitors of the evening.

The speeches were preceded by an excellent dinner, and the singing of the Merchants and Manufacturers' quartet.

BURNS AGAIN PRESIDENT.

St. Peter Retires From the Leadership of Window Glass Workers.

All plans for amalgamating the two organizations of the window glass workers have been set aside by the resignation of Paul St. Peter, president of the Local Assembly, No. 300. Simon Burns, master workman of the Knights of Labor and former president of L. A. 300, again becomes head of the window glass workers. Burns is against consolidation. The cutters and flatteners will also refuse to affiliate with a consolidated organization, and they have elected their wage committee to confer with the manufacturers. Their scale expires October 1.

School Boards of North Braddock and Rankin Consume Many Hours In Organizing.

The school boards of North Braddock and Rankin organized Monday night after long drawn out sessions. North Braddock got through at 2:15 o'clock yesterday morning, and Rankin did little better. The North Braddock board elected S. R. McClure president; W. S. Clomery, secretary, and John G. Kelly, treasurer. C. C. McCabe was re-elected principal of the schools, and S. F. Loucks principal of the High school, with Miss Cecil Dean as assistant in the High school. Prof. McCabe's salary was increased from $1,400 to $1,600, and Prof. Loucks' from $1,200 to $1,400.

There was a general increase in the pay of teachers, the minimum being $40 a month, and the maximum $85. All the old teachers who made application were re-elected, except two. The school tax levy was fixed at 8 mills, the same as last year.

The Rankin school board had a vacancy to fill before organizing, one member, J. H. Moyle, having moved out of town. Thomas McCain was elected. L. H. Bishoff was elected president, J. S. Donellan, secretary, and George C. Watt, treasurer, and James Barnett, truant officer. Miss Elizabeth Thompson was re-elected principal, and Miss Maude Craig assistant principal. The board voted an increase of from 10 to 20 per cent in salaries.

Weather—Rain. Yesterday's Temperature—Max. 83; Min. 68. Wednesday, June 7, 1905.

Wednesday, June 14, Flag Day.

A week from today you MUST fly the American flag from your home or your place of business. If you are a true American you will accept the command in the spirit in which it is given—the 14th of June is always the date upon which to display Old Glory, and it doesn't matter what day that falls on, it is your duty to put out the flag—the most wonderful flag of all the nations of the earth.

It's not compulsory—you can be stubborn if you wish to—still it is a day set apart for educating the youth of the land to give their allegiance to the best flag that ever was.

In our East Basement we have full lines of flags—silk flags, cotton flags, muslin flags, wool bunting flags—in size from the little flag of 2x3 inches up to the monster 26x40 feet. Also flag poles and flag holders; also, again, our prices are the lowest.

Coming to Today's Sale of Fisk, Clark & Flagg's Sample Line of Shirtwaists & Shirtwaist Frocks?

We dwelt on this feature of today in our news of last evening. We take it that you are acquainted with this New York firm which turns out ultra-fashionable garments for women. You can use the waists for horseback riding, for golf, for traveling or for the steamer trip. The shirtwaist frocks are typical torrid weather garments. Here are the prices on each line side by side:

$3.25 Each

For Fisk, Clark & Flagg Shirtwaists, Mostly Cotton and Linen—a Few Silk.

The Lowest Priced One, Regularly $4.50, the Highest $12.00.

That's an offer to make your eyes sparkle—$3.25 for choice of waists, some of them worth four times as much.

The materials include oxford cheviot, silk repp, madras, some few peau de sole, silk, mohair, handkerchief linen, gingham.

There are plain white, and there are flowers and figures, stripes and plaids, dots both big and little, both in self-color and in contrasting effects.

The size range is from 34 to 40.

We want you to come in the fullest expectation of getting a great deal for your money and to be immeasurably astonished in realizing much more than you had expected.

Faultless Silks for Faultless Prices.

What do we mean by a faultless price? Well, a price that is a good deal lower than it should be, a price that does not represent the worth of the silk, a price very close to what the silk cost us. We are just egotistical enough to think that no one can purchase silks quite as close as we are in the habit of doing. These are worth looking up today.

New Separate Skirts for Women.

These we speak of are white, or you can have them in cream color. It is a fair assumption that separate skirts will have their innings the next three months, because the shirtwaist season is upon us. We have bought as broadly in separate skirts as we have in waists, selected what we considered the best styles for Summer month and have given particular attention to new styles, especially the modish tub skirts. We were particular to get the kind that will look as pretty after they are washed as when you first bought them.

Our lines are confined to the dignified and conservative skirts. Linens, as usual, are to the front; mohair, serge and drap d-ete skirts in practically unlimited assemblage. Will you kindly look over this price list:

Linen Skirts from $2.50 to $13.00.
Mohair Skirts from $6.00 to $23.00.
Serge Skirts from $12.00 to $18.00.
Voile Skirts from $8.50 to $24.00.
Drap d-Ete Skirts from $10.00 to $20.00.

Wednesday, June 7, 1905.

The attempt to reform the Equitable management by internal effort has failed, and the only result has been to expose the Hyde control as the mountain of mischief. It is now up to Superintendent Hendricks to act, and it is expected that he will be heard from soon.

Hoke Smith has announced that he will run for governor of Georgia next year. It will be an interesting struggle, for his identification with the Cleveland wing will array the Bryan people against him, and the result may afford some indication as to the strength of Bryan's hold upon the Georgia Democracy.

Director Bigelow's counsel prevailed with the councils committee and the project for a skyscraper on the site of the Diamond market houses was negatived. This probably disposes of the matter for the present. Before it is broached again it may be hoped the city will be given a board of estimates and control, since it is a typical subject for consideration and disposal by such a body.

Dr. Samuel C. Dixon, chosen by Gov. Pennypacker as commissioner of the new state health department, will be recognized as a leader in the medical profession. He is president of the Academy of Natural Science, Philadelphia, an author of note and a scientific investigator of the first class. He is thus well equipped, from the scientific point of view, to sustain the great responsibilities of his new position.

Peace is not in sight at Chicago. The arrest of President Shea of the teamsters' organization has apparently made the drivers more bitter, and it is expected 10,000 more men will be called out. The struggle has passed the point where reason might be a controlling factor. It will be fought out to a finish. It is the duty of the authorities to see it is done wholly within the law and that disorder is not tolerated.

Yemen insurgents in Turkey have taken several more towns within the past few days and appear to be growing in strength. Additional troops were dispatched to the scene when towns were taken a couple of weeks ago, but it is not clear from latest reports whether they have arrived. If they have been engaged in the late operations and have been overcome Turkey is certainly facing a very serious rebellion.

Some suffering has resulted from the sudden advent of warm weather after the rather tardy spring. In the rural regions, however, it is cordially welcomed for the benefit of growing crops. Winter wheat is already assured for a yield much above normal and hay promises better than last year. The corn, on the contrary, needs more warmth. Given a large harvest of wheat, hay and corn and there is no good reason why prosperity should be halting.

In the recent battle of the sea of Japan the Japanese navy used new guns. The pieces fired so often in the siege of Port Arthur and the engagement with Russia's first Pacific squadron on August 10 were taken ashore for use of the army against Port Arthur's intrenchments. The navy was fitted with new armament pending the arrival of Rojestvensky. No doubt this precaution contributed to the result of the battle, and the fact should not be overlooked by the American naval establishment.

John Gaynor and Benjamin D. Greene will return to the United States to be dealt with according to law. They are not coming voluntarily, but after exhausting every resource to avoid extradition. It was necessary to carry the case to England to secure this result, the Canadian courts being there overruled. These men were indicted jointly with Capt. Oberlin M. Carter for frauds in connection with government contracts. While they have been fighting extradition in Canada, Capt. Carter has served out his sentence in the prison at Fort Leavenworth. Thus it may be seen they have gained nothing.

The resignation of T. C. T. Crain as tenement house commissioner in New York city is said to have resulted from his inability to do his work on account of the obstacles put in his way by Tammany. When obstructed fire escapes caused a loss of life recently it was found that most tenements on the east side were no better. Crain pleaded that he did not have the money or the men to enforce the laws, but his request for an extra appropriation was voted down. While Tammany profits by winking at the laws, it is said that Mayor McClellan is politician enough to understand that dirty streets and cluttered exits to tenements do not pay.

Hay Philip Quits.

If there is such a person as Hay Philip, the motion made by counsel of the members of The Gazette staff for the dismissal of the commitments under which they were held should have been sufficient to bring him out of his hole, as among the grounds set forth in support of the motion was that "the name Hay Philip is not the true name of any person, but a false, fictitious and assumed one, and made maliciously and fraudulently by an imposter in the interest and at the instigation of malicious and designing persons." A conclusive reply to this denial of his existence would have been the appearance of Hay Philip in court with proof of his identity. But when the case was called yesterday for argument upon the motion, Hay Philip was still missing, and eventually the attorneys representing him withdrew the informations on the alleged ground that they had been found to be defective.

In discharging the defendants from arrest the judge put upon Hay Philip all the costs, which will fall upon those using the mask of that name through the attorneys retained for the prosecution. As they declared that the charges would be renewed, Judge Galbraith advised them that if any such action were taken in Butler county the prosecutor would have to be a known person, ready to assume the responsibility of his action.

Such is the present stage of this extraordinary offshoot of the Allegheny graft cases. Several members of The Gazette staff have been subjected to arrest, have had to find bail and have had to lay their work aside to make trips to Butler to defend themselves, and after having been put to this trouble and expense they have not been able to learn anything as to the identity of their prosecutor. He has been able to use the machinery of the law to annoy them while himself evading subpoena and liability for actions on the score of malicious arrest. The case will not be allowed to rest there. The Hay Philip mask must come off and the faces behind it be exposed to view.

Liberal Reform in Russia.

According to St. Petersburg advices the czar is about to issue a manifesto announcing the establishment of a legislative assembly. This will be the crowning measure of a series of concessions which the government has been making to conciliate public sentiment. The various orthodox sects, the Roman Catholics and the Lutherans have been liberated from the penal laws against their beliefs, and Polish schoolmasters are now allowed to use their own language wherever Poles are in a majority. Restrictions upon the Jews have been so much relaxed that Jewish artisans may reside in any of the towns of the empire, and the Jewish Chronicle of London says it has high authority for the statement that there would be a sweeping removal of Jewish disabilities but for the fear of mob outbreaks, which the authorities would have difficulty in preventing. For this reason prohibition upon residence in villages is still maintained. Such concessions should do much to relieve the congestion of the Jewish population in the western district of Russia, and with the wide area of the Russian empire open to them. Jewish emigration to other countries may diminish.

The adoption of these measures indicates a radical change of policy, which accounts for the retirement of M. Pobiedonostoff, who has long held a position which may be described as that of minister of public worship. He is a stubborn opponent of liberal institutions and is able to state his objections with an eloquence of which one may get an idea from his work entitled, "Reflections of a Russian Statesman," which has been translated into English and may be found in the Carnegie library. The stress of circumstances has overborne his arguments as the fortunes of war have compelled the government to yield in order to appease popular discontent. Thus indirectly the defeats sustained by Russian armies have been victories for the party of reform. The constitutional value of the reforms thus obtained is marred by the fact that they have been extorted from the necessities of the government, but if they take root they may grow and a new and better era in Russian politics may date from the humiliating defeat of the government in the war with Japan.

Delcasse's Retirement.

More than ordinary interest will be taken in the French cabinet rupture that has resulted in the retirement of M. Delcasse, the foreign minister. When offering his resignation to the council of ministers, President Emile Loubet presiding, M. Delcasse stated his action was due to differences with other gentlemen concerning the foreign policies of France, and particularly in dealing with Morocco. M. Rouvier, the premier, announced that for the present he will assume the duties of foreign minister. It may be assumed the friction was between the new premier and Delcasse, as the latter had been in perfect accord with former Premier Combes, and his associates in the cabinet took pains to testify their appreciation.

M. Delcasse will be universally admitted to be one of the most forceful statesmen France has produced in recent years. He was second to M. Combes in some respects, notably in the vigor of assertiveness. Yet he accomplished his purpose quite as freely as the recent premier with less friction. He was recognized in all foreign capitals as a man of keen perception and sound judgment. His influence in world affairs was great, and his retirement will be generally regretted by diplomats.

The Royal Marriage.

The marriage of the crown prince of Germany to the duchess Cecilia of Mecklenburg-Schwerin is as much of a domestic event as a royal marriage can be. The time has passed when marriages for dynastic reasons could aggrandize countries as in the old days when the allegiance of countries could be transferred like the ownership of real estate. Nationality is now the dominant influence and its force is too strong to be controlled by the family relationships of sovereigns. The relations of England and Germany are not perceptibly affected by the fact that the kaiser is King Edward's nephew. In choosing a wife from among the princely families of the German empire the crown prince is more likely to promote his own happiness and the welfare of his people than if he had made some dynastic alliance of the old style with a foreign princess.

The grand ducal house of Mecklenburg, to which the Duchess Cecilia belongs, claims to be the oldest sovereign house in the western world, their genealogical record dating back to Nicklot, prince of the Wends, who died in 1160. The duchy is one of the few countries in Europe which has preserved the institutions of feudal times, and this fact is some evidence of hereditary capacity in the ancient dynasty. The young bride appears to be fitted in every way to wear the crown of empress of Germany when the succession comes to her.

A Practical Means of Recall.

The Philadelphia Press, which by its attacks upon Gov. Pennypacker is promoting the attempt to carry Philadelphia local issues into state politics, gives great praise to a new piece of governmental machinery known as "the recall." It has been put into practical operation in Los Angeles, Cal., and it provides that if an elected officeholder does not conduct himself in a way to suit his constituents a petition signed by 25 per cent of the voters will necessitate a special election, at which he may be voted out of his office.

Extolling the virtues of this device, the Press remarks that it would enable a state "to relieve itself summarily of a governor who signs ripper bills." The term is a misnomer for the bills thus referred to, as they do not rip anybody. They do not take effect until after the term of the present mayor, and if the people of Philadelphia really object to them a means of recall is in their reach. The legislature will meet again before the bills become effective, and all that is necessary to do is to elect a legislative delegation in favor of repealing them and they will be repealed. We should like to know upon what constitutional grounds Gov. Pennypacker can be blamed for his action. The bills were passed by much more than a two-thirds majority of the legislature and received the unanimous support of the Philadelphia delegation. Mayor Weaver made no protest and seemed to be indifferent about the matter. If this legislative action misrepresented the desire of the people of Philadelphia, then the whole theory of our constitution is at fault and the working of representative institutions is to blame.

The days of gentle summer sun,
Of whispering buds and flowers,
Of diamond-flashing raindrops
That follow June time showers.
These are the things the poet sings
When summer's come to pass,
But me and you sing Hi, Hoo-roo!
We've got fresh garden "sass."

That late comer in the oceanic yacht race may have been Apache, but the crudest knowledge of the tribe would lead one to believe that it is of the squaw man variety.

A son of Jesse James was recently acquitted of usurious practices by a Missouri court. The sire would have scorned so tame a method of exacting revenue.

Cupid is by far too versatile a linguist to let the German language stand in the way of pulling off a wedding of international interest.

Explorer Peary says the Garden of Eden is at the North Pole. It will be a cold day, however, when he finds it up there.

June is a rather unpropitious month in which to spring that old worm-eaten caution about the danger of kissing.

The steam fitters' convention is congratulating itself that it got Mayor Hays into the hot water of speech-making.

With that 18-hour train to Chicago New York will soon be claiming the Lake Michigan section as a suburb.

It is to be hoped the German royal bride will have no trouble in exchanging the surplus chafing dishes.

The Homestead councils is gallantly reichstaging itself into fame.

The Equitable directors seem all going in the same direction.

It is indeed a "rare" June day in which it doesn't rain.

Admiration and Sympathy.

The Japanese may command our admiration; but the Russian people have our sympathy in their struggle to the light. Their victory over an odious dynasty and a bloodless bureaucracy would arouse enthusiasm beside which the half-bewildered elation produced by Admiral Togo's feat of arms would sink into nothingness.—Philadelphia Record.

Rabbits and Bears.

We imagine we can see Bear Hunter Roosevelt smile disdainfully when he reads Uncle Grover's ponderous monograph on rabbit hunting.—Atlanta Constitution.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Now comes the time when linen suits
The populace will don,
And truly, now, they will be "beauts"
And comforts every one!
But then the laundryman will get
His grip upon the prize
And soon convert the father's pet
To little Willie's size!
—N. O. Times-Democrat.

Did you wear your dad's old clothes shrunken down, or cut down to your size? It isn't a thing to be ashamed of, for many men as good as you dare be have done so and felt really proud in them.

Possibly, or even probably, your good mother expended many an hour figuring how the sound parts of your pap's old trousers would cut to best advantage. And when cut and sewed you had a good and substantial pair of pants without the expenditure of a cent.

And as to style and fit they were all right, too, for boys don't go much on either. The main points to be considered in boys' clothes is their ability to resist wear, tear and dirt.

No doubt most mothers of the present day would think it awful to have to stoop to making new clothes out of old ones, and there are some boys who would be ashamed to wear them.

But back in the days when the fathers and mothers of the present generation were young, things were different from things present. Parents were not as free-handed as they are now, or pretend to be, and children were not as forward and hard to please as are children of today.

And yet it was the practical economy of those times that made the present times possible.

What spendthrifts we have grown to be, as compared with two or three generations past.

And are we much, or any, better for it? Have we better and greater statesmen, or lawyers, or doctors, or preachers, or fathers or mothers, or children? Are the morals of the people better? Do the people enjoy life better or more rationally? Do the children of this generation promise more than did the children of your generation?

True, this country is richer, some men are richer, and some communities that were poor then are rich now, but, are riches the whole thing? That they have the call over almost everything else just now is quite true, but when you come to think it all over you are driven to the conclusion that it is not wealth alone that makes a nation strong in all its parts.

It is after contemplating the present mad rush for wealth that one feels strongly inclined to agree with Goldsmith when he says:

"Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey,
Where wealth accumulates and men decay".

This is not the cry of a pessimist, but rather a warning note from one who had seen sad havoc wrought by wealth, and whose keen insight into the social world revealed the possible effects of wealth on new generations.

And then, when you come to think of the vast wealth of this nation, and recall the vast opportunities there are for investing this wealth in the boys and girls who are to become the men and women of tomorrow, and the fathers and mothers of generations to come, are you quite satisfied with present conditions?

Were a few of the millions invested in speculative schemes devoted to the practical betterment of the children who are foredoomed to work their way through life, they might be helped wonderfully.

Or, were a tithe of the money spent on showy adornment and ostentatious display, set apart to buy farms on which to rear those who are now being reared in back alleys and unfit homes, what a great help it would be to our country and what a splendid object lesson it would be to the world.

Or, were a tithe of the money spent in building houses too big for the comfort of their occupants, and too expensive to maintain, devoted to the establishment of shops and quarries in which to give street gamins practical training in trades that would make them practical builders, how rapidly the homes and residences throughout the land would improve.

We have the money to build the greatest navy, the highest houses, the finest railroads in the world, but when it comes to building the finest human characters, the most perfect bodies, and fashioning the happiest, thriftiest, and best people on the face of the earth, the ready cash is not forthcoming.

The world was not made in one day, nor can a nation be developed in one generation, so it may be that we are jogging along fast enough.

However, it has been the fate of nations that neglected the moral and industrial development of their people to go to smash.

The same fate that overtook these awaits all other nations, great or small, that make the same mistakes concerning the education and development of their people.

We make a great show in the matter of education by building great universities and supporting various institutions of learning, and yet there does not appear any great improvement over the past in the matter of moral and social culture.

Anyway, we find a lot of comfort and satisfaction in contemplating the past. This is particularly true of those who have a past to look back to. The younger set are looking forward, which is altogether right and proper. And when it comes their time to look back, may they find it as pleasant as do those who are now harking back to good old days and good old ways.

These are rip-roaring times, and they are likely to continue. But they are expensive. They rip the life out of good men and strong, destroy our beautiful women and spoil promising children.

But the busiest of men find a spare moment or two now and again, in which to recall their old days. Some of our modern poets, having discovered this disposition in busy men, help them to recall days and scenes that are most restful now, though once they were thought to be most strenuous.

Frank L. Stanton of the Atlanta Constitution, has a happy knack in fitting rhymes of taking you back to the dear old days.

THE DEAR OLD DAYS.

Gimme back the dear old days—all the boys in line—
"Boy stood on the burnin' deck," an' "Bingen on the Rhine!"
"'Twas midnight; in his guarded tent"—we spoke it high and low,
While Mary trotted out that lamb "whose fleece was white as snow!"

Gimme back the dear old days that Mem'ry loves to keep,
With "Pilot, 'tis a fearful night—there's danger on the deep!"
The old-time awkward gestures—the jerk, meant for a bow,—
We said that "Curfew should not ring," but, Lord! it's ringin' now!

Gimme back the dear old days—the pathway through the dells
To the school house in the blossoms; the sound of far-off bells
Tinklin' 'crost the meadows; the song of the bird an' brook!
The old-time dictionary, an' the blue-back spellin' book!

Gone, like a dream, forever—A city's hid the place
Where stood the old log school house; an' no familiar face
Is smilin' there in welcome beneath a mornin' sky,—
There's a bridge across the river; an' we've crossed, an' said "Good-bye!"

—FRANK L. STANTON.

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 6.—No longer will the proprietors of hotels in Manhattan be compelled to stand losses in reimbursing patrons who are the victims of thieves. The bonifaces have hit upon a plan to protect themselves, and while they cannot stop the thefts they can, by the payment of a small amount, insure themselves against possible heavy losses. With the co-operation of several of the larger insurance companies a system to be known as "landlords liability insurance" has been framed, by which, upon payment of premiums, hotelkeepers receive policies for any amount they may see fit to ask. The plan, of course, is along the lines of burglary and other insurance, except that in this case it meets a peculiar hardship by returning money that has already been paid out without consideration. Under the new plan the insurance will be regulated by the number or rooms in a hotel. For example, the Waldorf-Astoria, which has about 1,000 rooms, has taken a policy which apportions a certain amount to each room, thus protecting itself against the expense which might be incurred by a robbery of an occupant of that room. Another point when commends the plan to the hotelkeepers is that many patrons prefer to lose whatever may be taken from them and let the proprietor reimburse them rather than invite the publicity which prosecution of the thief would involve.

Heat Records for June 6 Broken.

According to the thermometer in Herald square, today is the hottest June 6 on record. At half past 10 o'clock this morning the mercury had reached the 90 degree mark and was still going up. Eighty-seven degrees was the limit accredited to June 6 of last year, which was then awarded the palm for extreme heat on that date. Old Sol, with brother Humidity, began to get very busy as early as 8 o'clock. The official temperature for that hour was 74 degrees, and at 6 o'clock it remained the same. At 9 o'clock, however, Mr. Emery's thermometer stared at him with 77 degrees to its credit. At half past 10 o'clock 81 degrees were registered officially. While these were the conditions in the high altitude of the roof of an office building the themometer on the sidewalk in Herald square showed to the perspiring citizen just what he was suffering from.

Exposure Stops Robbery.

Alarmed by exposure of fraudlent manipulation of trolley transfers, 14 conductors of lines in Jersey City, Hoboken, Bayonne and Newark have fled, leaving behind them their wages for eight days. Thirty persons, including conductors, motormen and former employes, have confessed their share in the gigantic swindle upon the Public Service Corporation, which Albert M. Stanley, general superintendent of the corporation, states has resulted in a loss of $300,000. "Since the publication of the discovery of the swindle," said Mr. Stanley today, "there has been a substantial increase in the corporation's receipts, although no more passengers have been carried."

Subway Air to Be Purified.

Experts of the Interborough Company are seeking a way to purify the air in the subway. The recent warm days and nights have brought great discomfort to the patrons of the road and complaints are becoming more frequent. When complaints were first made about the bad air several weeks ago officials of the company denied that these complaints were justified, but the officials themselves have made trips through the tunnel since last Saturday and now admit that atmospheric conditions should be improved.

Smathers Loses Valuable Horses.

E. E. Smathers, the horseman, has offered a reward of $500 to any person who will give information as to the identity of those who tied tin cans to the tails of two valuable horses in a pasture at his farm in Harrison. The animals, in their fright, dashed against the barbed wire enclosure, and, receiving fatal wounds, had to be shot. No arrests have yet been made, but private detectives, spurred by Mr. Smathers' reward are following up several clues.

Consolidated Exchange Is Busy.

The annual report of President L. V. F. Randolph, of the Consolidated exchange, in pamphlet form, has been distributed among the members of the exchange. President Randolph reports increased business for the year in the sales of stocks, clearances having totalled 148,439,570 shares, as compared with 125,553,760 last year, which was the record year previously. Some falling off in grain transactions is recorded, the figures for the year's trading being 479,675,000 bushels.

Colon Passengers in Quarantine.

J. O. Leary, a saloon passenger on the Steamship Seguranca, here today from Colon, who had been ill for some days, was taken to Swinburne island for observation when the steamer reached the quarantine station. The physician who attended Leary on the steamship had not determined the nature of his illness. His detention on Swinburne island was ordered that the officials might make sure that he was not suffering from yellow fever.

One Cool Spot in Town.

Patrons of the hippodrome noticed last night that the atmosphere in the big playhouse was several degrees cooler than the outside air, and inquiry revealed the fact that the plenum chamber air cooling system, which has been installed was in operation for the first time. The cold air plant in the Hippodrome is the largest in the world, and the first of its kind in the country, and demonstrations proved last week that the temperature can be reduced to any desired degree, so that the summer's heat need not have terrors either to player or patron.

Idleness a Cause of Divorce.

In the shocking cases of perfidity and of unfaithfulness to the marriage vow among our wealthier classes, the root of the matter lies, as in so many other sorts of sin, in idleness. The absence of strenuous, compulsory occupation is in itself a temptation to crime. The idle man or woman whose sole interest in life is the pursuit of pleasure inevitably becomes sated with its different forms.—Leslie's Weekly.

FARMS FOR NEVADA

Irrigation for Its Arid Lands.

Especial interest attaches to the Truckee-Carson project in Nevada, says the Review of Reviews, for when 50,000 acres of land will be supplied with water and formally opened to the public June 17, partly because it is the first actual demonstration of the reclamation act, and also by reason of the fact that it includes the largest body of public land embraced in any of the several irrigation projects. The Truckee-Carson system is only a part of the great scheme which is being undertaken for Nevada. In their entirety the vast plans involve the expenditure of $9,000,000 and the intensive cultivation of 350,000 acres of land. Not less interesting than the splendid achievement of the government engineer, L. H. Taylor, who is responsible for this work, is the locality in which he is constructing it. The reclaimed area is situated in the bed of ancient Lake Lahontan, which in recent geologic times occupied many of the valleys of northwestern Nevada. It is a region at present which must be compared with the parched and desert areas of Arabia and the shores of the Dead Sea and Caspian, but which when irrigated will rival in productiveness any valley in the temperate zone.

Lakes Used for Flood Storage.

"The Truckee and Carson rivers rise on the eastern slopes of the forest-clad Sierra Nevada mountains in California, and flow in a general northeasterly direction into Nevada. The drainage basin of the former contains a number of beautiful lakes—Lake Tahoe being the most important—all of which are to be utilized for flood storage. In Nevada these rivers flow for some distance parallel to each other, and at one point not more than 20 miles apart. The Truckee river then veers sharply northward, emptying into Pyramid and Winnemucca lakes, and the Carson river, separating into three channels, ultimately disappears into Carson Sink.

Engineer Taylor conceived the plan of carrying the waters of Truckee river over into the Carson drainage, and by means of a diversion dam and a large canal, 31 miles in length, successfully accomplished it. Truckee river now empties into Carson river, the point of union being in a long depression of the valley of the latter, which has been converted into a reservoir with a capacity of 280,000 acre-feet. Four miles below the reservoir and above the three forks of the Carson, another diversion dam directs the combined flow into two large canals, one on each side of the river, which are the feeders for a distributing system of ditches hundreds of miles in length. Under these comprehensive plans, flood-waters which for ages have passed unutilized into sinks to evaporat now render fertile thousands of farms, while the depressions themselves, drained and laid out into farms, will soon support in comfort hundreds of families.

Possibilities of the Reclaimed Acres.

"The lands in the Truckee-Carson valleys, as shown by careful analyses extending over a period of years, are strongly fertile, rich in the necessary elements of plant food, and adapted to the successful production of a wide variety of crops. From experiments conducted by the department of agriculture, it is shown that these valleys are especially favorable, when irrigated, to the cultivation of fodder crops, which will promote animal and dairy industries. On account of cold nights, the region is not suitable for corn, but is adapted to the growing of hardy fruits, such as apples, plums, pears, peaches, grapes and berries, while oats, potatoes, and alfalfa are the principal crops. Sugar beets will certainly do well in this section. A careful study of the climatology of this region destroys the popular but erroneous impression that it is unfit for civilization. Briefly stated, the climate is extremely arid, and is distinguished by a short, cool summer and a long, mild winter. Evaporation is rapid, so also is the radiation of heat after sunset. The contrast between the records for the dry and wet bulb thermometers is great, and although the ordinary thermometer often registers a temperature of over 100 degrees, the actual sensible heat felt by man is lower than the summer temperature of New England. Nights are invariably cool, and frost is liable to occur in the higher parts of the region any day in the year. The mineral wealth of Nevada is beyond all question, and it is safe to predict that with irrigation the agricultural products of this region will find a profitable home market, and will largely promote the exploitation and development of the mineral resources.

Booby Prize Parrot.

Last winter a Topeka society woman wanted to get rid of an old parrot which she owned. It had only one tail feather, but possessed an extensive vocabulary of choice cuss words. A bright idea struck her. She was hostess for her card club one day and she gave the parrot as the booby prize. The woman who won it took it home and bided her time. It soon came her time to entertain the club and furnish prizes. So she gave the parrot as the booby prize, too. From that time on the parrot became the booby prize and made the rounds of most of the homes of the women. Finally the woman who originated the idea won the booby prize the other day and carried home the old bird. The parrot recognized his former home. He craned his neck, blinked his eyes several times and then with disgust said:

"Oh, kitchen's dirty as ever."—Kansas City Journal.

Bluebird Occupies Mail Box.

A bluebird which took possession of a mail box on the South road in Woodstock, Vt., last year and successfully raised two broods of little ones promptly returned this spring, rebuilt her home, deposited her eggs therein and is now waiting patiently for the appearance of her little family. The owners of the box have abdicated in her favor, putting up another box for their own accommodation.

John Brown's Cap.

"No wonder they hanged John Brown," said a visitor to the state historical rooms the other day. "A man who would wear a cap like that ought to be hanged." It is an old wool cap with all the nap worn off.—Kansas City Journal.

WAYS OF ANIMALS

Japanese Gold Fish Farms.

Although the gold fish occurs in a wild state in Japan, it is probable that China some 400 years ago furnished the stock from which the wonderful varieties of Japanese gold fish have been bred. It is reported that in feudal days, even when famine was abroad in the land and many people were starving, the trade in gold fish was flourishing.

The demand at present appears to be without limit, and the output shows a substantial increase each year. Many thousand people make a living by growing gold fish for market, and hundreds of peddlers carry the fish through the streets and along the country roads in wooden tubs suspended from a shoulder bar.

The leading gold fish center is Koriyama, near the ancient capital city of Nara. Here are 250 independent breeding establishments, whose yearly product runs far into the millions. One farm which I visited was started 140 years ago. At first it was conducted merely for the pleasure of the owner, but it eventually became a commercial enterprise and is now very profitable.—National Geographical Magazine.

Capturing Wild Animals.

"A dealer imports considerably more than 100 large wild animals each year," said an agent recently. "For instance, our records for one year which I happen to have at hand shows that we imported in that period 29 elephants, 25 camels, 20 tigers, 5 lions, 45 leopards, 20 pumas, 18 panthers, and hundreds of birds and monkeys and small things. Cubs—lion and tiger and bear cubs—are in special demand by wealthy families in New York, and in fact throughout the country. Sometimes we receive an order for a large number of elephants. We telegraph this order to our catchers in the elephant country, who after organizing the natives into a hunting band, proceed to collect the desired number. A huge enclosure is built in one of the main elephant paths, and at night when the big animals come to feed they are driven into the inclosure, or keddah, by means of fires and shouts and the firing of guns. Beaters on tame elephants then ride into the inclosure and rope the beasts, and in a short time they become accustomed to being led about. Elephants are naturally mild, and were this not the case they never could be captured, because of their great hulking strength."—New York Times.

Feeding Humming Birds.

When I first crawled in among the bushes close to the nest the little mother darted at me and poised a foot from my nose, as if to stare me out of countenance. She looked me all over from head to foot twice, then she seemed convinced that I was harmless.

She whirled and sat on the nest edge. The hummings opened wide their hungry mouths. She spread her tail like a flicker and braced herself against the nest side. She craned her neck and drew her daggerlike bill straight up above the nest. She plunged it down the baby's throat to the hilt and started a series of gestures that seemed fashioned to puncture him to the toes. Then she stabbed the other baby until it made me shudder. It looked like the murder of the infants. But they were not mangled and bloody; they were getting a square meal after the usual humming bird method of regurgitation. They ran out their slender tongues to lick the honey from their bills. How they liked it! Then she settled down and ruffled up her breast feathers to let her babies cuddle close to her naked bosom. Occasionally she reached under to caress them with whisperings of mother love.—Country Calendar.

Bird Elocution.

The blue jay is a great elocutionist and gives utterance to many unlooked-for remarks, but the one most often heard in the woods relates to the possession of a chee-idley-cuk. Just exactly what sort of a creature or thing this is no one can tell, but whenever I am in the woods I hear the jays exclaim "chee-idley-cuk—got him."—To which the meadow lark in the pasture clearing replies, "Oh-so-cheap!" with a most sarcastic drawl on the so and an inflection on the cheap. As a rule the meadow lark says his say while perched on a fence post and he talks with his mouth wide open. There are a lot of little people in the thickets who are always in such a hurry and talk so fast that it is difficult to tell what they say. There is that gaily colored little fellow, the red start, crying "T-wet, wee-whee-whewitsett," and the dainty summer yellow bird, who has something to say in the same line and much in the same manner. What he wants is wheat, and although he never eats it his constant cry is "Wheat, wheat, wheat. T-wheat wheat, wheat, wheat!"—Recreation.

Game in Yellowstone.

Attorney Dan Yancey, who is at present in the Yellowstone park, writes as follows to a friend in Butte:

"I never saw the like of game in my life, and it has wintered well. One sees but few dead elk, and you know there are nearly 80,000 in the park, besides vast numbers of deer, antelope, mountain sheep and other game.

"I counted 128 cow elk on one hillside near the hotel yesterday, while elk are to be seen all along the road, and you can ride within 40 yards of them and see the velvet on their horns, which are now only about a foot long. Wild geese, ducks and grouse are flying around here, while I am awakened every morning by the pheasants drumming on the logs."—Anaconda Herald.

June.

When dogwood blossoms star the lanes
With flawless white,
And thrushes in melodious strains
Discourse delight;

When dandelion torches pale
Their golden fire,
And open its urns by height and vale
The willing briar;

When each breeze sounds as though it hymned
A love song pure,
And every heart is buoyed and brimmed
With wander lure;

When all the ways of this old earth
Seem ways of dream—
A maze of melody and mirth,
Glamour and gleam;

Then, then we know the long dances
Of doubt is over;
We are grown one with happiness:
'Tis June once more!

VOCAL ARTISTS WIN AUDIENCES

Saengerfest Concerts Present Individual Talent and Marvelous Massed Choruses.

SOCIETY TO PARADE TODAY

Mme. Lillian Blauvelt, Mme. Johanna Steck-Puchlmann, Daniel C. Beddoe, The Mozart club, the Pittsburgh orchestra, the Arion chorus, James P. McCollum, and last, but by no means least, a chorus of 800 children from the Allegheny public schools—with such a galaxy of talent was there any reason why the two great audiences that attended the afternoon and evening concerts yesterday of the Pittsburgh district saengerfest of the North American Sangerbund in the Exposition building should not have grown enthusiastic?

During the afternoon concert the audience gave Mme. Puchlmann an enthusiastic reception, and the noted contralto completely captured her hearers with masterful renditions of Jean Louis Nicode's "Fata Morgana" and Meyerbeer's "Le Prophete," although the singer struggled bravely but triumphantly during the latter rendition in order to overcome the screeching whistling of a number of river boats that kept up a relentless accompaniment during the entire number. So urgent was the demand that the rule of "no encore" was broken when the Arion male chorus responded to continued applause by singing "My Old Kentucky Home," which met with the usual popular favor.

A beautiful stage picture was presented at the afternoon concert in the assembling of 800 children of the public schools of Allegheny on the inclined stage in the rear of the orchestra platform. The children were, almost without exception, arrayed in white, and aside from the sweetness and uniformity of tone, their performance was especially remarkable for its accuracy of time. After singing three patriotic airs, the children closed the afternoon concert by rendering "Columbia, Gem of the Ocean," in the chorus of which each of the tots brought forth a tiny American flag and waved it with a fervor that brought the audience to its feet with applause and cheers that drowned the 800 voices.

It would be difficult to single out the one special triumph of the evening concert. Daniel T. Beddoe's presentation of the "Prize Song," from "Die Meistersinger," was artistically sweet, strong and clear, and when, at its conclusion, he was the recipient of an armful of flowers, the audience showed its approval with thunderous applause. Mme. Lillian Blauvelt's rendition of "Hear, Ye, Israel," from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," in which the Mozart club joined in singing the chorus, "Be Not Afraid," was an artistic combination it has seldom been the privilege of a Pittsburgh audience to hear, and when Mme. Blauvelt sang Rossini's "Una Voce Poco Fa," from the "Barber of Seville," later in the evening, her victory was complete, for not only did the famous soloist utilize all the opportunities for vocalization which this selection offers, but introduced all the vivacity of action which it so liberally permits. The Mozart club scored another hit in its presentation of the ever-popular "Hall, Bright Abode," from "Tannhauser," while the evening performance came to an agreeable international close with the singing of the "Watch on the Rhine" and the "Star-Spangled Banner," by the festival chorus and the audience.

This morning a parade will be held through the streets of Allegheny, previous to the picnic at Ross Grove, with Charles Kirschler of Allegheny acting as chief marshal. The paraders will assemble in Elk's hall, Cedar avenue and Washington street, at 8 o'clock. The line of march will be as follows: Cedar to North avenue, to Irwin, to Ohio street, to Chestnut street, to Liberty street, where the review will take place from the Fourth ward school house. The first train will leave the Allegheny station at 11 a. m. for Ross Grove, and trains will be run every hour until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

GAYNOR AND GREENE MUST COME BACK HOME

Canadian Extradition Commissioner Decides Case Is Proven, but They May Still Fight.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MONTREAL, June 6.—Judge Lafontaine, extradition commissioner, in a lengthy decision, gave his judgment today in the case of John F. Gaynor and Benjamin D. Greene, wanted in Savannah, Ga., on a charge of frauds upon the United States government aggregating $2,600,000, though the actual sum named in the warrant is $575,776.90. He decides that the case has been "proven to the hilt," and that they must be sent back to the United States for trial.

The defense has 15 days within which to file an application for a writ of habeas corpus to free the prisoners. A writ of habeas corpus can be granted only on one of two points in this case. One is that the commissioner has no jurisdiction. It has been settled by the privy council in England that the commissioner has jurisdiction, so all that remains to be discussed on the application for the writ is that the presiding judge made errors in his decisions.

WIDOW OF MARK TWAIN'S "DOCTOR" PASSES AWAY

GREENVILLE, PA., June 6.—(Special.)—Mrs. Susan Beatty Gibson died at her home in Jamestown this morning, aged 87. She was the widow of Dr. William Gibson, physician and philanthropist. Dr. and Mrs. Gibson made several trips around the world, and were members of the Quaker City excursion in 1867 which Mark Twain describes in his "Innocents Abroad." It has been stated that Dr. Gibson was the original "doctor" described in the book. The Gibson monument in the Jamestown cemetery, containing crypts for Dr. Gibson and his wife, is said to be the costliest private monument in the United States. Built of granite and solid bronze, the doors are so arranged that they can never be opened again after Mrs. Gibson's body has been placed inside.

NEW STATE ENACTMENT MAY SAVE BOULEVARD

Joseph W. Hunter, state highway commissioner, a position recently created by the legislature, has notified all street railway companies in the state that under the new act, they are required to submit all plans of improvement to the state commissioner for approval. There is some question as to whether or not the act can be interpreted to include city streets, and if this should prove true, it is possible that the franchise giving over Grant boulevard to the street railway company may still be blocked.

GETS A MUCH BETTER JOB THAN THAT OF A PRIVATE

As he was about to re-enlist in the United States army, John L. Leyman of No. 141 Diamond street, McKeesport, was yesterday notified of his appointment to the position of postoffice inspector, with headquarters at Seattle, Wash., at a salary of $2,500 a year. Leyman served in the Tenth infantry, United States regulars. He took a civil service examination, but had become tired waiting for an appointment. He spent six years in the army and was about to enlist for three years more in the Alaskan service.

FAT JOBS AUTHORIZED BY FINANCE COMMITTEE

New City Digest, Extra Pay for Auditor and Another Draughtsman Approved.

A fat city job is created by an ordinance approved yesterday by the finance committee of councils, authorizing the mayor to appoint a temporary assisant city solicitor for the purpose of compiling a new city digest. For this work the ordinance appropriates the sum of $7,500.

Councilman Helmold, who introduced the ordinance, says an arrangement has been made whereby the mayor is to appoint Robert McElroy, a young lawyer of the Twentieth ward, and that McElroy is to employ W. G. Negley as his assistant. Mr. Negley is from the Fourteenth ward.

The resolution authorizing the employment of the city auditor as collector of taxes from corporations at an extra compensation of $1,500 a year, the auditor to report to the mayor, was also approved by the finance committee.

The ordinance granting the consent of the city to the annexation of Esplen borough was approved, and an ordinance authorizing the sale, at public auction, of property acquired by the city through delinquent tax sales, was affirmatively recommended. A resolution was approved for the transfer of $4,300 from the appropriation of the bureau of electricity to the fund for the construction of the First ward engine house.

The committee approved the resolution to return to the Western Union Telegraph Company $1,032.25 paid to the city under the linear tax law, which was later declared invalid by the supreme court. An ordinance was approved authorizing an additional draughtsman in the assessor's office at a salary of $1,200 a year.

ZEMSTVO CONGRESS DEFIANT OF THE CZAR

Meets in Spite of the Imperial Ukase Forbidding It—Promise of a Parliamentary Regime.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

MOSCOW, June 6.—In spite of the official prohibition, the All-Russian zemstvo congress assembled here today but the delegates met in private houses. About 280 delegates from various zemstvos and municipalities, including the mayors of 25 of the larger cities, arrived yesterday. It is proposed to introduce resolutions calling for the immediate cessation of hostilities.

The order prohibiting the meeting arrived at Moscow only late last night, and aroused the greatest indignation and resentment. The congress sat during the entire day. The speakers were unanimous in declaring that the nation must decide the question of peace or war and that the state must be reconstructed.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 6.—An imperial manifesto will possibly be issued tomorrow, the empress' birthday, or on Thursday, the festival of the Ascension, and will immediately realize the popular demand for a parliamentary regime by creating a legislative assembly consisting of two houses.

ALLEGHENY LETS CONTRACT FOR ASPHALTUM SUPPLY

The first of the contracts for supplying the Allegheny department of public works with asphalt, to be used in paving and repaving the great number of North Side streets which will be improved this summer, was let yesterday afternoon by Mayor Wyman and Public Works Director McIlvain, to H. L. Hutson of the California Asphaltum Company of Indianapolis, Ind. The contract price is $18.05 a ton and 125 tons have been ordered. It is estimated a total of 500 tons of asphalt will be needed.

Group of the Duquesne public school old-time pupils, with Ex-Mayor Diehl in the center—James A. McFadden, of Sewickley, an old-timer, a member of the executive committee and was prominent in receiving the others.

FRIENDS OF OLD WHO MEET AGAIN

Reunion of Former First Ward School Teachers and Pupils a Unique Occasion.

MANY PROMINENT MEN NOW

Never in its history did the First ward school house see such a gala time. Overloaded with flags and bunting and other decorations, with a band discoursing music in the yard and an orchestra playing for nimble-footed dancers on the top floor, with two ex-mayors and two ex-judges shaking hands and making speeches; with ex-principals and former teachers, many of them come from far away, greeting old pupils some of them gray-headed themselves; with all these scenes and incidents, no wonder old-timers said yesterday they had never expected to see the dingy school house in such glory.

It was the reunion of former pupils and teachers of Duquesne school of the first ward. Many of the old pupils have become prominent in the professions and business. The young pupils of the present day had many a good example pointed out to them. On one side they could see a millionaire; on another former pupils who are on the way to become millionaires; here they saw a lawyer who had received his first training in the school; there a great manufacturer who learned habits of thrift in the same rooms; again they would see some mechanic, not rich in the world's goods but respected by everybody and bearing himself as proudly as any of them.

All the Way From Cincinnati.

Robert Fitzsimmons was there. He went to the school when it was in the old Methodist church at Liberty and Fourth streets. Before 1828. Mr. Fitzsimmons is 81 years old and he came all the way from Cincinnati, his present home, to attend the reunion. He shook hands with the present oldest resident of that ward, John Henry Schuett, who was not an old pupil, but who has a son who is president of the school board of the ward. George N. Monro, the lawyer, who was principal of the school back in the '60s, was there. He is old and gray now, but when he shook hands with Morgan J. Connolly, the policeman, Connolly said that Mr. Monro's hands seemed as firm as in the days when it gave future peace guardians many a deserved box on the ear.

Capt. "Ike" Bunton was there in the only silk hat of the day, ex-Mayor Andrew Fulton went down in the afternoon and in the evening returned with his family; ex-Mayor W. J. Diehl acted as chairman of the ceremonies in the afternoon; Mrs. Margaret P. Fish of Claysville, formerly Margaret P. Matthews found one or two old schoolmates, although her school days date back nearly 60 years ago.

Old Teachers Out in Force.

Old teachers were there, some from far away. There was Mrs. Jane Myess McConnell, who taught in the '60s, when she was Miss Martha Graham. Mrs. Joseph Weible, known to former pupils as Miss Belle Moffat, came all the way from Harrisburg. Old pupils asked for Miss Mollie Hess and found her in the person of Mrs. Aiken; Miss McKinley, who has been a teacher many years, was greeted by many pupils she had taught in the First ward. All of them, pupils and teachers patronized at least once in the day the taffy stand in the yard, but very few of them were willing to admit that the taffy was as good as that "Paddy" Slade used to sell, although the stand was labeled "Paddy Slade's" in honor of the memory of the old man of that name who sold slate pencils and taffy many years ago.

The day's proceedings began with a treat to the pupils of the present day. They were marched under a big tent in the yard and there were fed on sandwiches, ice cream, lemonade and fruit, after which they were dismissed for the day, and the building and yard were turned over to the old-timers.

Ex-Mayor Diehl Was Chairman.

Ex-Mayor Diehl acted as chairman and made a speech after Father T. F. Walsh had invoked a divine blessing. Henry W. Schuett, president of the school board, extended a hearty welcome to everybody. George N. Monro, who was principal from 1869 to 1870, was cheered by many oldtimers and was deeply affected while making his remarks. The present principal, M. J. McMahon, gave the history of the school. Miss Mary P. Eaton, who was principal from 1874 to 1878, read a paper on the "new" and the "old" woman. Miss Eaton now lives in Warsaw, Ill. Ex-Judge Josiah Cohen and D. L. Gillespie spoke. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. John K. Martheus.

The rest of the day and until 10 o'clock at night, open house was kept and refreshments were served. At night Dannhardt's orchestra furnished music for those who wanted to dance, while downstairs men and women who had not met for 50 years hunted one another up and talked over old times.

The idea of the reunion was conceived by Maj. W. H. Davis, and a few men met one day in his office and decided that a reunion ought to be held. The idea took like wildfire and money was raised for expenses. The following composed the executive committee of the reunion, aided by an entertainment committee of many of the former pupils of the school: William J. Diehl, chairman; George O. Celler, secretary; David A. Rees, treasurer; Maj. W. H. Davis, H. W. Schuett, James A. Fadden, Robert A. Foley, Maj. W. McC. Johnston and Prof. M. J. McMahon.

Charge Cox With Counterfeiting.

Martin Cox, who was arrested in Canonsburg, Pa., five weeks ago on a charge of passing counterfeit coin, was committed to jail yesterday in default of $500 bail by United States Commissioner Lindsay. Cox, who had been in the Washington county jail for the past four weeks, was brought to the city yesterday afternoon by Deputy Marshall William Henry.

VACATION BILL IS BADLY DEFEATED

Surveys Committee Unanimously Votes Against Closing of Forty-Second Street.

PROPERTY OWNERS OBJECT

Confronted by a remonstrance signed by a majority of the property owners and representing a majority of the frontage in the street, the city administration failed yesterday afternoon to put through the surveys committee the ordinance vacating a nine-foot strip of land, 403 feet long, on the west side of Forty-second street, for the benefit of the Seamen-Sleeth Manufacturing Company.

This company owns the entire block bounded by Forty-second and Forty-first streets, the Allegheny Valley railroad and Willow street. The strip proposed to be vacated runs from Willow street to the Allegheny Valley railroad.

William Brand, common councilman from the Seventeenth ward, made a hot attack on the ordinance and brought to bear written evidence to defeat it. He presented the remonstrance signed by all the other owners of property in the street, representing a total frontage of 408.6 feet, with a statement from the chief city assessor to the effect that the Seamen-Sleeth company held a minority of the frontage in the street.

Two Streets Already Vacated.

Mr. Brand said the Seamen-Sleeth company had already secured the vacation of a 40-foot street running along the Allegheny Valley railroad and of a 20-foot alley running directly through the company's property. He contended that the city was not a benevolent institution, created for the benefit of corporations, and that the property owners in the street had bought homes in Forty-second street years ago upon the condition that the width of the street should remain 40 feet. He said it was not just ice to those in these homes with a 31-foot street which would amount to nothing more than an alley. He answered the argument of Senator W. S. Woods, that the extension of the Seamen-Sleeth plant on the vacated strip of ground would enhance the value of that plant and the amount of taxes the company would have to pay, by stating that there would be a corresponding decrease in would be a corresponding decrease in the value of the property on the opposite side of the street which would fully offset any gain to the city on the west side.

Woods Fails to Convince.

Senator Woods, a former member of councils, appeared as attorney for the company and made the argument that the company did not want to take the street for nothing, that it was willing to pay whatever damages the board of viewers might allow the owners of property on the opposite side of the street. He claimed the company could not give the city a compensation for the street because the city could not give a deed for the street.

Mr. Woods failed to convince the majority of the committee or to combat the evidence produced by Mr. Brand. The administration members were taken by surprise and the motion, made by L. H. Frederick, to return the ordinance to councils with a negative recommendation was unanimously carried.

The surveys committee approved the ordinance repealing the vacation of Watson street, between Shingiss and Boyd streets in the Sixth ward.

M. DELCASSE QUITS ON THE MOROCCO QUESTION

Resigns His Office When He Learns His Colleagues Are All Opposed to His Policy.

From La Prensa.

(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

PARIS, June 6.—M. Delcasse, French minister of foreign affairs, resigned his portfolio today, amid many expressions of personal regret on the part of his colleagues, who, however, felt that the step was necessary on account of their insuperable differences with him on the Morocco question. M. Delcasse has sought to establish the paramount influence of France in Morocco.

M. Rouvier at once assumed the office of minister of foreign affairs, a step which is likely to allay the tension with Germany. It is believed the resignation of M. Bihourd, French ambassador to Germany, will naturally follow. Prince Radolin, German ambassador at Paris, is also likely to resign.

At the cabinet meeting M. Delcasse clearly explained his policy in Morocco, which M. Rouvier opposed. The latter showed how he would conduct the negotiations, and his plan was approved by all his colleagues. Thereupon M. Delcasse left the council and the ministers continued their deliberations, Mr. Rouvier announcing that he would take upon himself the duties of foreign minister. As known in the chamber of deputies, H. Jaures announced that he would abandon soon as M. Delcasse's resignation was his proposed interpellation of the government on the Morocco question.

ALFONSO'S BUSY DAY.

Raining in London but He Went Through a Long and Varied Program in His Honor.

LONDON, June 6.—King Alfonso of Spain saw the sights of the metropolis today in typical London weather. Rain fell all day long, accompanied by a chill east wind. The limp decorations gave the entire city a bedraggled and forlorn appearance. The young monarch, however, carried out a long program with evident enjoyment. After receiving the diplomatic corps at Buckingham palace King Alphonso attended mass at the Roman Catholic cathedral at Westminster. Later he visited Westminster abbey, lunched with the duke and duchess of Connaught and was an interested spectator of the military tournament at Agricultural hall.

The day concluded with a state banquet at Buckingham palace which was attended by members of the royal family, the diplomatic corps and practically all the notables in political England.

FIXING UP THE SCALE.

Amalgamated Officials Confer With Representatives of Republic Iron and Steel Company.

DETROIT, June 6.—Representatives of the Republic Iron and Steel Company and a committee from the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers began a conference here today, to reach an agreement on a wage scale for iron workers.

The Amalgamated association committee submitted the changes adopted at the recent convention of the Amalgamated association in Detroit. These call for an increase of 2½ per cent for puddlers and 13 per cent for finishers. It is generally expected that the puddlers' increase will be conceded without much debate, though a fight is expected on the 13 per cent increase for finishers.

DR. HARPER WILL LEAVE FOR INDEFINITE ABSENCE

CHICAGO, June 6.—(Special.)—The news that President William R. Harper intends to leave Chicago tomorrow with his family for an indefinite absence was the cause of more rumors about the University of Chicago today. His destination is a close secret. Denial was made that Dr. Harper had suffered a relapse.

Independents File Papers.

HARRISBURG, June 6.—(Special.)—Papers, claiming the right to use the name of "Citizens party" as a political appellation for the nomination of county offices in Washington county were filed in the prothonotary's office here today, by leaders of an independent movement. The papers are signed by John R. Kunz, G. W. Cameron, G. P. Baker, R. C. McConnell, H. F. Rosel, O. S. Chalfant and B. E. Varne, of Washington county.

CRAWFORD TAKES STAND IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

Declares Lorenz Agreed to Help Postal Lock and Device Company Get the Contract.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.)

WASHINGTON, June 6.—William G. Crawford, the former deputy auditor for the postoffice department, occupied the stand in his own defense during most of today's session of his trial for alleged conspiracy with August W. Machen and George E. Lorenz, in connection with the government contract for letter carriers' satchels.

Supported by contracts and letters, Crawford declared Lorenz came to his office in Washington, in April, 1902, and it was then that the arrangements were made for the formation of a partnership by which Lorenz would not bid for the letter carriers' satchel contract, but would aid the Postal Lock and Device Company in securing the contract. His statement was in corroboration of the recollection of Mr. Polk, an attorney, on the same subject. Lorenz had testified that he had not called on Crawford until June, 1902, and that Machen had arranged the meeting.

The defense put in a large amount of documentary evidence concerning the contract for straps to go with the satchels, tending to prove that, contrary to the testimony of Lorenz, the Postal Device and Lock Company had expected to furnish straps with the satchels.

After Others Had Failed Wyeth's Cream of Sage and Sulphur Grew This Hair

READ THE PROOF

CLEVELAND, O., May 4th, 1905

Wyeth Chemical Co., Rochester, N. Y.

Dear Sirs:—

About three years ago my hair began falling out so badly that I dreaded to comb it, as it came out in handfuls and became dry and harsh.

I had used all of the hair restorers that I had read about in the newspapers and tried all the remedies advised by my friends, without any benefit, and was almost in despair when I read about your Cream of Sage and Sulphur in the paper and decided to give it a trial.

In two months time my hair entirely stopped falling out, became soft and glossy, and I now have an abundance of heavy hair, measuring four feet and five inches. It is greatly admired by my friends, and my hairdresser says that it is the finest head of hair she ever dressed.

I feel very grateful to you for saving my hair, and hope that my letter may be the means of benefiting many other people.

Yours sincerely,

In the evening the women who attended the euchre in the afternoon were joined by younger members of their families and their husbands in a reception and dance, which concluded the affair. NATIONAL GAMES TODAY.

It was a mighty lucky thing for the Pirates that they got away with a lead of four runs yesterday, otherwise those Quakers would have scored the victory, as they played the kind of ball that calls for a win. The handicap placed in the opening inning was too much for them, however, and the game ended with the Pirates in the lead 5 to 4.

It was the first appearance of the rejuvenated Quakers in the city this season, and they were given a warm greeting, particularly ex-Pirates Bransfield and Kruger, whose welcome must have been pleasing to those players. Manager Duffy has succeeded in getting together a lot of players who are sure to keep the other teams hustling all the time, and after the exhibition put up yesterday it is little wonder the team is making the Pirates work to retain their hold on second place in the pennant race.

There is as much difference between the Quakers of this season and those of last year as there is between night and day. Duffy has picked up a pair of rattling good younsters in Doolin, who plays short, and Courtney, who covers third, as both are fast, accurate fielders and good batters. In fact, Doolin's batting yesterday was the feature of his team's display. The outfield is also a good one, being fast and sure. Titus, who has been shifted to right, made one catch yesterday that was a half running. It was on a drive by Howard in the sixth inning and Titus picked the ball off the right field fence.

When the game started Manager Duffy sent Duggleby to the rubber, and the warning that he got at the hands of the Pirates must have made his head swim. Howard, the first batter up, was given a base on balls and Clarke lined the ball to middle field for a stinging single, on which Howard moved to third. On the play to head Howard off Clarke went to third. Beaumont laced one to right center that counted for a home run, sending in Howard and Clarke ahead. Wagner then followed with a three-bagger to deep left. That was the end of Duggleby, as he was lifted from the game and Corridon took his place. This pitcher succeeded in stopping the batting rally.

Robertaille started off to do the Pirates' pitching and he only lasted four innings. In that time the Quakers succeeded in tieing the score, making two runs in the second inning and two more in the fourth. In these two innings the visitors bumped the ball good and hard. Deacon Phillippe was called to the relief and the display of pitching put up by the deacon was a treat for the 2,250 spectators. In the five innings in which Phillippe was in the box but three hits were made, not a run scored, and in the ninth inning he accomplished the rare feat of striking out the side, for which he was widely cheered.

The fielding of both sides was fast all the way. Both teams were fighting for second place and were on their mettle. The only misplay on either side was a wild throw by Wagner which gave the Quakers one of their runs. The Pirates' first four runs made off Duggleby have already been told of. The fifth was made by Leach in the fourth inning. Tenney led off with a single, went to second on a single by Ritchie and scored on a single by Howard. After that inning Corridon buckled down to business and not another hit or run was made.

The Quakers got two of their runs in the second inning after two hands were out. Brumfield, who had reached first by fooling Moore at second, scored when Doolin drove the ball to left for three bases. Doolin scored on Wagner's wild throw of Kahoe's grounder. There were also two out in the fourth inning when the visitors scored their other two runs. After Moore and Brumfield had been retired Doolin hit for two bases to right and he scored on Kahoe's single. Corridon followed with a hit down the right foul line that counted for three bases, scoring Kahoe. In the next inning there was a change of pitchers and that ended the Quakers' run-getting. J. DENNY O'NEIL MAKES MANY GLAD

CROWD NUMBERS OVER 25,000

A peculiar caucus of the O'Neil faction in McKeesport for the election in the fall of 1914 was held yesterday at Olympia park. Twenty-five thousand delegates attended and boosted J. Denny O'Neil for recorder of Allegheny county, for mayor of McKeesport, for state senator from the Forty-fifth district, for congress, and for president of the United States. Of course, he could not accept them all and he made a memo of the pledges on his cuff with as much unconcern as the belle of the ball who closes her dancing engagement hours in advance of the grand march.

Regardless of political significance of the gathering, J. Denny O'Neil, recorder of Allegheny county by Citizens party choice, was undoubtedly the most popular man in McKeesport yesterday. At his expense the 7,000 children of McKeesport were given an outing in Olympia park at Versailles. He provided round trip tickets for the three-mile trolley ride. Treats of pop and red lemonade were on him and he scattered merry-go-round tickets like chaff. He saw to it that the little folks were given free access to the swings, the boats on the lake and the stands where the ice cream was sold.

What Could a Politician Do?

There was only one instance when he was threatened by defeat in his generous scheme. Little Eddie Smith and his sister accosted Mr. O'Neil under an apple tree, talking about the luxuriance of John Larkin's whispers with Mayor Hays.

"Please sir, I wants a pass on the miniature railroad for me and my sister."

"It's too bad, Eddie; I am afraid I cannot do that for you just now."

"Oh, pshaw!" pouted Eddie. "My pap said you were a politician."

In about five seconds Recorder O'Neil produced two nickels and told Eddie to go and buy tickets. Eddie will get his first vote in 1919.

In the afternoon the supply of lemonade became exhausted. Recorder O'Neil instantly sent for an additional supply of lemons and sugar, and in order that no person's thirst should go unslacked, in the meantime he called for volunteers among his favorite boys to man the pump handles of the park wells. A dozen boys were needed for the job. He received over 100 willing recruits.

The Glad Hand in Evidence.

While the recorder stands next to Santa Claus in the estimation of Young America in McKeesport, the grown-up folks were not neglected, and those parents who attended the picnic to see the youngsters enjoy themselves were received with the glad hand by the host, who stood under the trees near the entrance. Not all were of his political faith. In fact, the most of them were his political enemies, but differences in political convictions were forgotten during the afternoon, and Republicans, Democrats, Citizens and Prohibitionists ate ice cream from the same plate. The recorder answered to the title of "Denny," and Mayor Falkenstein was just plain "Falky."

A ball game between the city officials of McKeesport and the local bank officials had been arranged, but the rain during the afternoon interfered with the plans.

"We'll call it a tie score of 9 to 9," said "Falky."

"No, we'll make it 9 to 9 in favor of the city officials," suggested "Denny." "Being politicians they would steal the game, anyhow."

Commissary Wagon Helped Out.

It was a basket picnic and the families gathered in groups under the trees at noon and dined al fresco. Of course, there were many visitors who were not provided with baskets, and these were cared for from "Denny's" commissary wagon, which was piled high with sandwiches, fried chicken, hard-shell crabs, smoked herring, sardines, pickles, cheese, cake, pie and jam. This luncheon was spread all day long and proved timely where a strenuous afternoon had caused youngsters' appetites to exceed the limits of family baskets.

The entire county and Pittsburgh administrations were there, but the visitors soon got lost in the crowds. Olympia park covers 76 acres, and happy couples were not the only persons who hunted out the sequestered spots. Mayor Hays and a lot of others wandered away off into the country, where Select Councilman Peter Hermes admired the cows.

In the evening the 7,000 children, tired, but happy, were glad to return home, and the night was given over to the older folks who crowded the dancing pavilion and the summer theater.

Thousands Come to Grief.

The picnickers who remained at the park for the evening's festivities numbered about 5,000, and their pleasure was sadly marred by the terrific thunderstorm which came up about 10 o'clock. When the storm broke all rushed for cover. The merry-go-round was tipped over and rendered useless. To heighten the contrast with the gaiety prevalent before, the power on the Olympia park street car line was cut off, and the bedraggled and soaked picnickers were forced to choose between walking nearly three miles through the rain home, or staying in the park all night. About 2,000 were there this morning, waiting for the street cars to begin running, or for the Baltimore & Ohio early trains. Women with small children, under umbrellas or awnings and unprotecting roofs, under which the rain was blown in torrents, all night, their clothing soaked.

The park management, with John Harris, manager, at the head, did all possible for the stranded men, women and children. The women with babies and children were given the best shelters and young girls the next best. The tied-up street cars were lined up along the line from Walnut street McKeesport to the park.

Hundreds of homes in McKeesport were deserted except by husbands as was proven by the many calls registered by the telephone companies for the park. Husbands tried to find a way to go and bring their wives and families home, but there was none unless they walked to the park and back.

Homeless Boy in New York.

Police Superintendent Wallace was asked yesterday to find the relatives of John E. Hill, aged 14, who is without a home or means of support in New York. Police Justice William M. Seifert of that city wrote Supt. Wallace that the boy has two uncles, George Bell and Henry Sellers, who are supposed to be in this city. The boy's parents are dead. His father, John Hill, was killed in an accident a month ago, and his mother, Margaret, died over a year ago. The boy formerly lived at 215 West Forty-second street.

BIGELOW KILLS MARKET SCHEME

Council Committee Disapproves the 99-Year Lease by an Unanimous Vote.

SPOILS A BIG SPECULATION

By a unanimous vote the public works committee of councils yesterday killed the ordinance leasing the Diamond market house site to a company of local speculators for 99 years. The ordinance was sent to councils with a negative recommendation. Director Bigelow sized up the chances of the bill in advance of the meeting by stating:

"It will not get a single vote."

The bill was defeated principally through the efforts of Director Bigelow, who was opposed to the scheme from the start. He appeared before the committee yesterday afternoon and gave his reasons.

William J. Brennan, attorney for the company, made an impassioned plea before the committee. The committee listened indulgently, but every member voted the other way. Mr. Brennan sought to make the committee believe the promoters of the scheme were not so much aiming to make profit for themselves as to give the city a better market house; that the project was more of a semi-philanthropic than a money-making enterprise.

Mr. Brennen claimed the offer, if accepted, would double the space of the present market and double the market revenues now received by the city. He said the company could not hope to make any profit for many years to come and his only hope of remuneration was in the 99-year future of the lease. He said it was proposed to erect a building to cost $3,000,000, to give the ground floor for a market and to give the city the use of the auditorium on the second floor, the revenues from the remaining 17 or 18 stories to go to the company.

Director Bigelow replied to Mr. Brennen's statement, and he did so effectively.

"There is nothing in this proposition for the city, so far as a market house is concerned," said the director. "The market house system is changing in all the large cities. We don't have a country market any more here, and the only country market in Pittsburgh is the one on the Monongahela wharf.

"All the farmers have moved from the Diamond market to the Monongahela wharf, and I considered some time ago the idea of moving the whole market away from Diamond square to the wharf. Markets do not pay any more. Telephones have killed them. There is not a finer market in the country than the one in the East End, and it does not pay. Even the produce markets are moving out of the downtown section, and in five years there will not be a single produce store in Liberty street downtown.

"This proposition means the practical abandonment of the market, for it does not provide as much space as there is now. It means only four rooms, each about 50 by 90 feet in size. The Diamond market is bound to go. I have a petition now from merchants in Diamond square and Market street asking that the market stands in the streets be removed.

"If you give this lease for 99 years it means that you are giving away just $3,000,000 worth of property for nothing, and it is up to this committee to say whether it wants to do that."

Dr. H. B. Burns objected to the ordinance because it did not provide any guarantee that the market house would be built, and that the parties obtaining the lease intended to erect the building, instead of selling the privilege.

Councilman Wainwright asked Director Bigelow if the city could use the market house site for any purpose other than a market, and the director said this was a question which had not been determined.

After their defeat the promoters of the defunct market house scheme stated they intend to introduce a new ordinance in councils, proposing to lease the site from the city outright, instead of using the ground partly for market purposes.

Director Bigelow says the parties seeking the lease are only in the venture for speculation, and that if they secured the lease for 99 years, they would be able to sell it at a big profit.

LARKIN PRAISES ORPHANS' CHOICE

Says Zahniser Would Make Good County Commissioner, as His Record Is Clean.

NO REPUBLICAN CHOICE YET

Controller John B. Larkin, who was not at the Orphans' meeting that indorsed W. J. Zahniser for appointment as county commissioner by the judges of the common pleas courts, yesterday indorsed the Orphans' action. The Republican advisory committee that has been considering the advisability of indorsing a man for the appointment met yesterday, but adjourned without preferring anybody. J. Carson Mercer, the late commissioner, was a Republican, and it is generally supposed the place will be filled by a Republican, although that does not mean the judges will necessarily appoint a man named by this party.

"I was not at the Orphans' meeting that indorsed Mr. Zahniser," said Mr. Larkin, "although, had I known that was the object of the meeting, I would have broken another engagement I had and attended. Everybody knows a Republican will be appointed by the judges. Mr. Zahniser is a Republican. Knowing Mr. Zahniser as the Orphans know him, knowing that in select council and in the finance committee, when the appropriation bills were being considered, Mr. Zahniser acted with the Orphans for the best interests of the city—knowing all this, it was perfectly natural the Orphans should indorse him. I speak of Mr. Zahniser as I know him. No better man could be selected for county commissioner. Why should not the Citizens nominate Mr. Zahniser for county commissioner, to run at the election next fall? I have already advised some of the Citizens leaders that they ought to nominate Zahniser."

The Republican advisory committee met yesterday afternoon to consider the vacant commissionership, but adjourned for the day, so County Chairman Thomas J. Ford said, without coming to a definite conclusion. Former County Commissioner W. W. Murray is among those seeking the indorsement of the organization. He is confident of receiving the appointment from the judges.

A number of labor leaders, a committee from the Soldiers' Civic league and a committee of the Allegheny War Veterans' association have asked Mr. Ford to meet with representatives of those bodies to discuss the probable complexion of the Republican county ticket. The labor leaders want a representative of organized labor and the soldiers want an old soldier on the ticket.

The Republican executive committee of North Braddock organized last night by electing Joseph L. Campbell chairman and John L. Lowers secretary and treasurer. Only one new member took his seat, William Aites of the First ward, who succeeds James Noel. The county committeemen elected last Saturday are Peter McDonough, John F. Lowers and Fred W. Edwards.

ARRESTS OF WATCH AND RING THIEVES NUMEROUS

Several Nimble Fingered Persons Fall Into the Hands of Alert Thief Catchers.

Several men were arrested yesterday for stealing watches and rings. Charles McCord, aged 41, colored, of 45 Poplar alley, was locked up for attempting to pawn a lady's gold watch marked "I. B." He denied stealing the watch and said a negro gave it to him to pawn. The watch was stolen from a house in Tannehill street.

William Luman, aged 14, of 270 Lombard street was arrested for attempting to pawn a gold watch marked "Presented to William Robinson by a few of his friends, 1887." The boy denied taking the watch and said a "big fellow gave it to him to pawn." Harry Kroeles, aged 19, of Toledo was locked up for stealing a gold watch from Mrs. Mary Delahan of 345 Carolina street.

A report of the Delahan robbery was received by the detectives on Monday. In searching the room formerly occupied by Kroeles the officers found a pawn ticket for the watch. Kroeles was arrested in his room at 1121 Lawn street, where he moved Sunday. He was employed as a bell boy in a downtown hotel, and was identified as the man who had pawned the watch.

Edward Green, 3031 Smallman street, and Jacob Walls of Rankin, were held for court by Magistrate Negley, yesterday, on charges of larceny and receiving stolen goods. Green was accused of stealing a $300 gold watch in an East End hotel and selling it to Walls for $14.

GOVERNOR NAMES THE HEALTH COMMISSIONER

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, June 6.—Dr. Samuel G. Dixon of Ardmore, Montgomery county, was appointed commissioner of the state department of health this afternoon by Gov. Pennypacker.

This office carries a salary of $10,000 a year and the commissioner is authorized to appoint to district health officers at a salary of $2,500 a year each and an unlimited number of clerks, experts and other assistants. He has an appropriation of $200,000 to carry on the work of the department for the next two years.

When the health commissioner qualifies the terms of the members of the state board of health and its secretary, Dr. Benjamin F. Lee of Philadelphia, will retire and no appointments thereafter will be made to these offices. The commissioner will also serve as a member of the state water commission, the salaried members of which have not yet been appointed, and will be entitled only to his actual expenses. He will be assisted in directing the work of the health department by an advisory board, consisting of five physicians and one civil engineer, which the governor is expected to appoint soon.

The members of this board will receive no salaries, but will be allowed their expenses.

Dr. Dixon is president of the Academy of National Science of Philadelphia and is regarded as one of the most eminent scientists and physicians in the country.

Gov. Pennypacker announces that there is no need to hurry about the appointment of a justice of the supreme court. Senator Penrose, it is said, is coming to Harrisburg on Friday to consult the governor, presumably on the judicial vacancy and about the positions which have not yet been filled.

Vineland Grape Juice

is a wholesome tonic and beverage. Made from the choicest of grapes, by a process that retains all of the natural flavor, it has that deep rich color, so different from ordinary grape juice.

Vineland Grape Juice is not only a pleasing drink, but it is also a cure for many intestinal troubles. It's an appetizer, a stimulator, a tissue builder. For sale by druggists and grocers.

To realize just how good this grape juice is, send 10 cents for a trial bottle—not an ordinary small sample but the regular 10 cent bottle.

If your dealer cannot or will not supply you with Vineland Grape Juice, we will deliver, all charges paid, one dozen quarts for $1.25, or one dozen pints for $1.75.

STOCKS HEAVY IN TONE, CLOSING AT THE LOWEST

Amalgamated Copper and Steel Foundries Preferred Led the Decline—Electric and Oil and Gas Lower on the Local Board.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The New York stock market yesterday was heavy almost from start to finish, and the volume of transactions fell below 500,000 shares. During the first two hours tractions were firm, and there was some support for United States Steels, but the weakness in Amalgamated Copper more than offset other influences, and finally turned the whole market in a downward direction. Amalgamated Copper opened at 81½, and touched 81⅛, but the final sale was at 78, a net loss of 3⅝ per cent for the day, and a decline of 6⅝ per cent since the appearance of the annual report on Monday morning. Mr. Lawson sent out a long dispatch from Boston stating that he would "dissect" the Amalgamated statement for the benefit of stockholders, and the street was inclined to credit him with causing some of the selling.

Another very weak member of the industrial list was American Steel Foundries preferred. This stock sold on Monday at 52, and has been as high as 67½ this year. Yesterday it opened lower at 49⅜, broke to 42¾, and closed at 44½, a loss for the day of 5¼ per cent. There has been some expectation of a dividend on the stock next month, but it is said that at a recent meeting of the board of directors it was decided to postpone any action on the dividend. The selling yesterday was ascribed to interests who are supposed to be in a position to know the intentions of the directors on this question.

United States Steel rallied slightly in the early dealings, but later sympathized with the declining tendency and sold off 1 per cent, closing at the lowest. Colorado Fuel and Iron closed 1⅝ per cent lower. Tennessee Coal and Iron declined to and closed at 74½. American Smelting closed ¾ per cent lower.

Union Pacific and Reading, which have recently been the leaders of activity in the railroad list, each closed 1½ per cent lower for the day. Northern Pacific rallied to 186, broke to 182, but closed unchanged at 183. The Pennsylvania group closed ½@¾ per cent lower. The only prominent stock in the list to close higher was Metropolitan Street Railway, which rallied to 120½, but closed at 118⅝.

The news of the day included the announcement of the resignations of A. J. Cassatt and John A. Stewart as directors of the Equitable Life, which, in addition to those of T. Jefferson Coolidge and Percy Selfridge which were announced after the close of the Market on Monday, makes seven prominent directors which have left the Equitable. The street feels that as long as the troubles of this corporation are kept before the public in this manner, there will be more or less timidity on the part of the public about re-entering the stock market. There was no confirmation of the rumor originating on the Berlin bourse of the assassination of the czar, and the resignation of M. Delcasse as minister of foreign affairs in the French cabinet apparently had no effect upon the Paris market, rentes closing 2½ centimes higher than on Monday.

The money market remained easy at 2¼@2½ per cent. Since last Friday the associated banks of New York have lost $2,812,000 through sub-treasury operations, $2,000,000 of this amount representing shipments to San Francisco.

The only important price changes in the local stock market were net declines of 1⅜ for Pittsburgh Oil and Gas and 1¾ for Westinghouse Electric. The first-named broke to 64½, but rallied to 66 at the close. The market for the stock is extremely narrow. Crucible Steel common was a fraction lower at 94¾, while the preferred advanced to 61¾. The only transaction in United States Steel was 20 shares of the common at 26¼. The stock closed offered at 25⅞. There was a fair demand for Pittsburgh Brewing common at 26. Independent Brewing preferred was unchanged at 49, but the bonds declined to 107. Pittsburgh Brewing bonds were unchanged at 114. The coal stocks were neglected and prices were nominal. River Coal bonds declined ½ per cent to 111½. National Fire Proofing preferred closed ½ lower at 34¼.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH

Stocks were dull, but there was a fair business in bonds.

River Coal 6s and Independent Brewing 6s closed slightly lower.

Pittsburgh Oil and Gas broke to 64¼ and rallied to 66.

Westinghouse Electric declined to and closed at 82.

Coal and Steel stocks were extremely dull, but about steady.

IN WALL STREET

The stock market was heavy most of the day and closed near the lowest.

Trading light. Sales 465,000 shares stock and $2,686,000 bonds.

Amalgamated Copper broke to 72 and closed weak.

Steel Foundries preferred broke 5⅛ points and closed near the lowest.

Net losses in investment railroad stocks ranged from ½ to 1½ per cent.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

It is worth while noting that while London has no Equitable Life scandal, no municipal ownership crusade, and no government railroad rate regulation agitation, the market there is as dull and narrow as in Wall street. Of course the foreign markets are interested in the outcome of the far eastern situation and also in the possible developments in Russia in the event of a declaration of peace, but these things will also have some effect here. The world's markets appear to have fallen into a rut that is not unusual after a season of liberal production of new securities. The most important news yesterday was that relating to the crops, the government weather bulletin showing rapid progress as a result of the warm wave which is sweeping over the country. Nearly every year there is talk of late season and backward crops, and fears are expressed over the outcome. Then two weeks of hot weather in June makes up for the lost time and chronic pessimists on the situation are temporarily quieter with the sound of the reaper in the fields. The steadiness of domestic grain markets yesterday was due largely to the fact that the foreign agricultural outlook was not so good.

One of the effects of the stock transfer tax is to induce room traders to operate for a wider fluctuation than before so that the chances of an eighth between sales are less frequent than formerly. Readiness to induce a movement of prices is correspondingly greater. With the market strictly in professional hands the movement of one day is designed to secure a point of vantage for a contrary movement the following day. The present market represents little else than this maneuvering among professional traders to move prices and to afford opportunity for their agile efforts to secure an advantage at each other's expense.

A dominant influence on the market was the decided weakness of Amalgamated Copper. Many intimations were afloat in speculative circles before the market opened that a sharp upward movement in this stock was intended based on the financial statement of the company published Monday. Suspicions were entertained that a process of unloading was going on, on the part of a recently active pool in the stock. The effect was disquieting on pool operators in other stocks and the weakening effect spread by sympathy.

Demand for bonds was better than for stocks on the local board. River Coal 6s sold to the extent of $13,000 at 111½, a decline of ½ per cent from the last previous sale. Independent Brewing 6s were lower at 107. Philadelphia Company old 5s were ½ higher at 110½. Pittsburg Brewing 6s were unchanged at 114 and Pittsburgh, McKeesport & Connellsville 5s at 103½.

There were no transactions in Pittsburgh Coal common and the price was entirely nominal. Small lots of the preferred sold at 76 to 76½.

Offerings of stock continue light, and there is no selling pressure, which leads traders to believe that when a change in public sentiment occurs it will be accompanied by rising prices.

Total sales of United States Steel on the Pittsburgh board were only 20 shares of the common at 26¼. Only 40 shares Crucible preferred changed hands.

Several local members of the New York stock exchange stated that their customers were doing little if anything in the market at present. Many of them took profits last month and are now awaiting developments. Any sustained advance in New York would find them in the market again.

Pittsburgh Oil and Gas was very erratic, declining rapidly to 64½, selling up to 65¾, and closing at 66 bid. Masten & Co. bought 400 shares and sold for more.

George R. Harris, head of the Pittsburgh firm of George R. Harris & Co., yesterday wired Edward Wasserman for an option on Reading common, and received this reply: "I believe the stock is good for 120." Wasserman is credited with being the largest buyer of the stock on the recent upward movement. Yesterday it declined with the rest of the market.

Luster Mining held firm at 19¾. Almost daily reports are now received from the mine, and they are all of a favorable character.

The South Hills Trust Company will pay dividend No. 2, being 2 per cent, on June 30.

Broker Frank R. McClure has just returned from a month's trip at the Flying Ranch in Wyoming. He reports that R. B. Ogden, formerly secretary of the Pittsburgh stock exchange, and who retired several years ago on account of impaired health, is at the ranch and is much improved.

Gross earnings of Chicago Great Western for May increased $35,953.

The New York stock exchange proposes to test the transfer tax law. A member of the exchange called upon District Attorney Jerome yesterday and arranged for a test. The plan is to have some one violate the law and upon a warrant will be issued for his arrest. This will be done today and the case will be pushed to the supreme court as speedily as possible.

There was some disposition to look to the money market as the possible cause for some of the depression in stocks notwithstanding the great apparent ease of money. The surplus reserve disclosed by Saturday's bank statement was at a low level and large special transactions continue to make requirements on the market. It was reported yesterday that it was under consideration to postpone the intended withdrawal of 75 millions of government deposits with the national banks, which had been set for July 1. The report attracted attention because the present monetary redundancy in the money market offers no apparent ground for such a measure for conserving its resources.

The tape has given no confirmation of last week's report concerning the retirement of the Rockefeller interests from the Union Pacific and Iron Company. As a matter of fact, this preponderance of Gould influence in the company has been so manifest that the relinquishment of a majority of the places on the board of Gould men would not be a startling development. Such a step would be in the line of Mr. Gould's expressed views about the propriety of one man holding too many directorships, but it is not yet of record that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and his associates share them.

The successful tests of the new 135-ton Westinghouse locomotive operated by high tension single-phase alternating currents conveyed by an overhead trolley are hardly to lead to immediate and important results, judging by the favorable comment made by many railway officials who have seen it in operation, and who now realize that the third-rail system, with all of its dangers, is no longer necessary in the electrification of the standard railways. This subject has already received great attention from the officials of foreign railways, who have long since recognized the undesirability of the third rail. In fact, there is now almost a unanimous conviction on the part of European engineers that the third rail must soon be relegated to the scrap heap.

The first loss of the United States and Canada for the month of May, as compiled from the carefully kept records of the Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin, shows an aggregate of $12,776,200. This is much less than the sum chargeable against the country for 1903 and 1904 as will be seen from the following table, which gives a comparison of the losses for the first five months of this year, and the same period in 1903 and 1904:

	1905.	1904.	1903.
January	$18,106,350	$ 21,790,200	$16,378,100

LACK OF BUSINESS ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Four Stocks Contribute About 60 Per Cent of the Total Dealings.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 7.—The Herald this (Wednesday) morning says:

There was a wretched destitution of business on the stock exchange yesterday. Four issues—Amalgamated Copper, Union Pacific, Reading and United States Steel—contributed about 60 per cent of the total dealings. The great majority of stocks were entirely neglected, and such business as did take place was largely of a professional nature. Speculative sentiment was much depressed during the day, not as a result, however, of any new developments, but rather in consequence of consideration given to old matters and the cumulative influence of a long series of disturbing incidents. Brokers reported that public interest was at low ebb, and stated that about the only orders received from outside sources were on the selling side of the market.

Reports of liquidation by the Equitable Life Assurance Society, or for some of the various institutions in which it has obtained extensive interests, were chiefly responsible for the late heaviness in the market. It was, of course, impossible to confirm these rumors, but the street thought it not at all unlikely, in view of the difficulties in the board and the searching investigation by the state insurance department, that the management might have closed out some of its purely speculative lines or terminated connection with some of the various speculative pools and syndicates with which its members were identified. Aside from this rumor, the difficulties in the company and the further resignations of prominent directors exerted the chief depressing influences in the market.

A canard relative to the assassination of the czar of Russia, the break in Amalgamated Copper stock and reported objections by Russia to peace proposals further assisted the market's heaviness. Crop reports were better, but these had little effect on stocks.

Foreign Money Market.

LONDON, June 6.—Money was plentiful in the market today, large government disbursements offsetting the call for $10,000,000 exchequer bonds and repayments to the Bank of England. Discounts were weak. Trading

BIG PURCHASE IN PENN AVENUE

Local Capitalist Buys the Blackburn Blocks Near Ninth Street for $275,000.

LATEST BUILDING PROJECTS

Through the Samuel W. Black company the holding of W. W. Blackburn at 815-817 Penn avenue have been sold for $275,000 cash. Further than that the buyer is a well-known local capitalist, the brokers declined to give out any information regarding the new owner. The property is one of the best in that part of Penn Avenue, opposite the Westinghouse building. On the lot are erected two nine-story business blocks, one stone and one brick. These were built nine years ago, and were recently estimated by an architect to be worth $180,000. No. 815 is occupied by the Household Credit & Auction Company and Black & Parker, furniture dealers, are the tenants at No. 817. Compared with other sales in this vicinity, the price paid for the Blackburn holdings, $6,111 a front foot, or $33.95 a square foot, is very reasonable. Less than six months ago the Arbuthnots bought the M. Oppenheimer holdings, 22.8x186 feet, at 811 Penn avenue, with a similar building on the lot and 20x86 feet in Eighth street adjoining for $275,000, which figures considerably more than the price paid yesterday. Very few squares in the down town district have shown more activity than this one the past year, for in addition to the three deep lots mentioned as sold, the three shallow lots at the corner of Ninth street have all changed hands within that time. No district in the city has shown a more rapid and steady increase in popular favor than Penn avenue from Seventh street to Tenth street, and no district similar in area has so many new buildings erected or planned for it, all of them, with the exception of the Fort Pitt hotel, being large wholesale mercantile buildings.

Calvary Will Spend $300,000.

The trustees of the Calvary Episcopal church have commissioned Architects Cram, Goodrue & Ferguson of Boston to prepare plans for the church and parish house which they will build at Shady avenue and Walnut street at a cost of $300,000.

Architect E. M. Buts has plans for a three-story brick apartment house to be built for Mrs. Harry Schaub at Larimer and Shetland avenues, at a cost of $30,000.

Architect Titus de Boguh has plans for a $40,000 church for the Greek Catholic congregation at Freeland, Pa.

William Wolfe & Sons have the contract from Architects Lloyd Brothers for a brick veneered addition to the school house at South Twenty-fifth and Sarah streets, to cost $40,000.

Architect John Stirling Vennell is preparing plans for an addition to the rectory and school buildings of St. Thomas Roman Catholic church at Eleventh street and Braddock avenue, Braddock.

Murphy & Hamilton have the general contract for the Morehead sub-district school, Reed & Miller street, Eleventh ward, to cost $160,000.

Bids will be taken by Architect Fred J. Osterling in a few days on a one-story brick hospital building, at Dixmont, for the Western Pennsylvania hospital for the insane.

Forbes Street Corner Is Sold.

Through the Aronson Realty company, Denis Shanahan, of the Shanahan Transfer company, bought from Henry Claus 100 feet of Forbes street fronting at the corner of Chestnut street for $11,200, or $110 a foot. The same brokers sold for James Donovan to Rabbi Greffman, of the Washington Street synagogue, a 10-room residence on 24x85 feet at 2021 Center avenue for $8,200.

The sale is reported of 5,000 acres of coal land in Braxton county, W. Va., for $175,000, or $35 an acre. That property was owned by J. S. Black, of Read House, W. Va., and D. D. Gamble, of Indiana, Pa. It is said that the purchase was made in the interest of an eastern syndicate and that the property acquired is only part of a big tract on which options have been secured.

Mid-year calendars are a novelty always, but the series the Real Estate Trust company is now issuing are genuine works of art and are so costly as to be thoroughly appreciated by the patrons of the company who receive them. Five different subjects are shown on the dainty cards in water color effects, and all of them are tastefully embossed, making them the most attractive advertising presents given out for a long time.

George T. McDonald is out with a catchy booklet, "Have You?" which tells in terse and inviting language of a few of the beauties of Walker Place, which he has been the prime factor in promoting. Although only a short time ago the allotment in the Squirrel Hill section of Allegheny hill, the wonderful progress in securing permanent and costly improvements is the way of high class homes.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The market for coffee futures opened steady but at a decline of 5@10 points in response to lower European cables and large primary receipts. European houses sold here, and there was scattering liquidation by local operators. Shading by trade interests seemed to gradually be absorbing offerings, but prices continued to lose ground and the close was easy at a net loss of 10@25 points. Sales were reported of 58,000 bags, including July at 6.35@6.40c; September at 6.50@6.55c; December at 6.70@6.85c; January at 6.80@6.85c; February at 6.75@6.80c; March at 6.90@6.95c; May at 6.95c. HOME-RAISED FRUITS IN LOCAL MARKETS

Cherries and Strawberries Make Their Bow for the Season. Chickens Are Cheaper.

Home-raised cherries and home-raised strawberries arrived in the markets together yesterday. Along with them came ripe, juicy-looking currants that made one's mouth water for the pies that mother used to make. California peaches came in in plenty, but they are taking a back seat with the home-raised fruit crowding in. In spite of gloomy forebodings of farmers, owing to last month's frosts, there is going to be a big fruit crop of every kind this year and the prospects for cheap living are bright.

There were no special changes in the local market lines yesterday. Spring chickens are much cheaper in rapid and there are plenty to come. Egg plant is marked away down and apricots are quoted at half what they were a week ago. Mississippi and Texas tomatoes are crowding into market and making the price of those articles much lower.

The butter and cheese market shows no strength. Cheese was again cut down yesterday, while butter lacks one another drop for next Monday. The offers market is still thought to be much too high, and another cent or more will likely be cut off it before the fall advance begins. Not until the advance of hot summer weather begins to make pasture scarce, will there be any prospect of a rise in either butter or cheese, unless something unforseen should occur.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday were: Pennsylvania lines, 10 cars hay, 9 cars oats, 3 cars straw, 3 cars feed; 2 cars corn; Baltimore & Ohio, 4 cars hay, 5 cars oats, 1 car straw, 1 car feed; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 2 cars oats, 2 cars corn, 1 car hay.

The market for oats took a decided turn upward and holders now would not sell at cut prices. Corn was not very selling at last day-down figures. Corn is weaker here, especially ear. A decline in shelled corn is not probable, as the market west is much stronger. Mill feed is decidedly strong and quotations are advanced. Receipts of hay are mostly of the poorer grades. A cut is made on them, while No. 1 grades hold firm.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Without furnishing figures to support it, the statement is made by Amalgamated assayers that, notwithstanding the Parrot shutdown in May, the Amalgamated production of copper for that month is the largest in the history of the company. The April production was nearly 20,000,000 pounds, of which more than 12,000 was the output of the Washoe smelter.

The statement of the three banks doing business in Goldfield show an increase in deposits of over $700,000 during the past month, and the Bank of the State is taking on a substantial air. The failure of the Goldfield Bank and Trust Company, which was in no sense a failure, but a case of loaning, has had no effect on the business of the camp.

James Farrel of Salt Lake City, principal owner of the Quincy mine of Park City, Utah, has purchased another mine in the Rossland mountain to the east from district, half a mile from the town of Rhyolite.

W. J. Douglas, owner of the reduction mill at Tonopah, has just returned from an extended trip to southern Nevada, visiting Lida and Gold Center, among the principal points of interest in the Tonopah district. Three new leases are being opened on the property of the Tonopah Consolidated Mining Company. They are running three tunnels and are sinking in two places, and are getting values that average $100 to $150, free milling. A ten-stamp mill is to be installed in the near future.

There are many prominent eastern capitalists interested in Tonopah. Among them are Peter Conners, millionaire, former mayor of Milwaukee, the Cudahys of Omaha and Chicago, Chris Fabrisal, who represents Burns Smith's interests in New York; Cal. Brougher, millionaire mining man of Tonopah, and others.

Another rich strike has been made on the property of the Tonopah National Bank Mining Company. Three weeks ago this company made a strike of equal importance, of which the last strike is the outcome. Assays of picked samples give 100 ounces of silver and 247 ounces of gold, total value of $5,000 a ton. The strike was made on the drift from the 100-foot level of the main shaft. The company is starting on the 200-foot level and both will be the same ore shoot, thus proving the width of the vein up to 100 feet. The new 225-horse power hoist is in place on this property, and shipment of the high-grade ore will begin at once.

A report from Goldfield says the Desert Rose has uncovered a six-inch vein, assays from which went as high as $15,000 a ton. The Goldfield Mountain Consolidated Mining Company has been incorporated, with a capital of $1,000,000. Charles Schmitt of San Francisco was elected president; Alfred Desmond of Boston, vice president; W. W. George Hunter of Louisville, Ky., secretary and treasurer, Nevada, with Fred Harris of Los Angeles and L. L. Hayden of Denver, constitute the directorate.

KUHNRACK'S PLEA IS SELF-DEFENSE

Hungarian Claims He Fired After Being Wounded in a Fight With Popp Family.

J. F. BRADEN GETS FIVE YEARS

John Kuhnrack, on trial for the murder of "Jim" Popp in Glenwood last Christmas, claims the killing was done in self-defense, he having received a number of wounds during the fight. A verdict of guilty will probably depend upon whether the defendant was stabbed before or after the shot was fired which killed Popp. The defense, which is being conducted by Attorney T. Mercer Morton, yesterday called several witnesses to prove that Kuhnrack was attacked by the entire Popp family and fired to defend himself. The prosecution contends that the defendant received his wounds while struggling to get away after firing the fatal shot, when he resisted the efforts of witnesses to hold him. Kuhnrack testified he fired the shot in self-defense when attacked and wounded by the entire Popp family. The case will be concluded this morning by the arguments of attorneys and the charge of the court.

John F. Braden of Coraopolis pleaded no defense to a charge of felonious assault made by his wife, Della Braden, and was sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary. Braden shot his wife in the arm at their home in Coraopolis about a month ago, and attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself in the breast. Constable Joseph Bonner of Coraopolis testified he had investigated Braden's record, and had been informed the defendant had served a term for killing a former wife at Johnstown.

Smaller Sentences Imposed.

Other criminal court sentences: Frank Jones, larceny, two years to the workhouse; William Chinter, fine $100 and costs for receiving stolen goods; Isaac Richey, larceny, 30 days to the workhouse; Laura Meade, unlawful wounding, 90 days to the workhouse; John Grasolo, felonious assault, two years to the penitentiary; Harry H. Katz, misdemeanor, fined $50 and costs.

Joseph Miron entered suits against George Worrall and Max Fischer for $5,000 damages each and had capiases issued for their arrest. He avers they had him arrested on a charge of fraudulently selling and assigning tobacco and other goods, and that the grand jury ignored the bills.

Judge Over dismissed the exceptions to the executor's account in the estate of Henry Preese, deceased. It is alleged the executor had agreed to sell United States Glass Company stock to his brother, W. H. Preese, for $50 a share, but subsequently sold it on the market for $54 a share. The brother asked the court to surcharge the executor for $4 additional, which was refused.

Suit for $10,000 damages was entered by Deborah Imbrie and her husband, Robert Imbrie, against B. B. Wood and F. C. Blessing, practicing physicians, for alleged malpractice. It is alleged she consulted them concerning her approaching confinement, and that through their negligence her child was born dead and an operation resulted which made her incapable of bearing children.

In Financial Difficulties.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against Edgar A. Broadhead of Kittanning. The petitioners are Mary A. Kerr, McConnell & Luker and Charles Dixon, whose claims aggregate $650. Broadhead, it is claimed, has committed several acts of bankruptcy. A petition of bankruptcy was filed by Fitzpatrick Bros., merchants, of Cambria county. The assets are $12,874 and liabilities $177.50.

Executions issued: Schofield Bros. vs. the George S. Doherty Mill and Lumber Company, $2,081.84; John Johnston vs. John K. McKee, $1,334.34; Mary Jane Coventry vs. Henry C. Bender, $1,525.13; Adam Spiegel vs. George S. Straub, $176; Pittsburgh Provision Company vs. Adam Sinon and Nicholas Horter, $552; H. Fred Mercer vs. Bertha Rossello, $566.50; J. Frank Peffer vs. Charles E. Strobel, $13,807.50.

Suit was entered on behalf of Anna Kretzman by Frederick L. Kahle, her attorney, against the Pittsburgh Construction Company to recover $25,000. The plaintiff alleges that her son had been in the employ of the defendant company on the Point bridge last August, when he was placed on a platform, 80 feet above the ground, and directed to catch a bucket suspended on the cables from a crane and empty the cement on the platform. She alleges the platform and crane was so constructed that it was impossible for her son to reach out and catch the bucket, and that in an effort to do so he fell to the ground and was killed.

MODERN HOTEL PERFECTION

Exemplified in the St. Regis, New York, Which Wins Wide Interest.

RATES ARE REASONABLE

The state census this year is expected to show that New York city has a population of four million souls. Rome, when mistress of the world, had a population of three hundred and fifty thousand. Rome in her day was the marvel of the world. She had her hotels—or what passed as such—and they were looked upon as the acme of luxuriousness. Could a Roman citizen come to life today and be suddenly transplanted to Manhattan Island he would surely rub his eyes in wonder at many stirring surprises, chief among which would be the wealth and variety of the New York hotels. There is one hotel that stands in a class by itself—that in its beauty, grandeur and perfect appointments truly represents the hotel apotheosis of any age or country. This is the Hotel St. Regis.

New York is proud of the St. Regis, and justly so. While the press comments of its opening were on the whole most generous and kindly, one or two writers took the rich furnishings of some of the suites and apartments as a text for formulating their own ideas that extravagant prices would be the rule throughout. These silly reports were in turn used as texts by the cartoonists and funny writers of the same papers, with the result that what was intended as harmless jokes, gave rise to the impression, in other cities as well as in New York, that only very rich people could afford to patronize the St. Regis.

Notwithstanding the magnificence of the appointments, the prices in vogue at the St. Regis are no higher than in any strictly first-class hotel. A room with bath can be had for five dollars per day, or a parlor, bedroom and bath for twelve dollars per day—prices that by no stretch of the imagination can be called extravagant when one considers what is given in return. Indeed, in many hotels you will find such prices prevailing, and the difference between the service they give and what is given at the St. Regis means a long—a very long—gap.

Another indication of the price reasonableness of the St. Regis is shown in the fact that reposing in its wine cellar are the richest and rarest wines, as well as the ordinary table claret at a dollar or so a bottle. It is possible to select a meal in the St. Regis that costs no more than one would expect to pay in a first-class hotel.

No stranger should visit New York without paying at least a visit of inspection to this splendidly appointed hotel, which distinctively marks a new note in the world's hotel keeping. While it can be seen at a glance that what genius and money can give has been lavishly distributed throughout every floor, yet everything is in such perfect taste and so unobtrusively arranged that the richness and beauty of it all gradually grows upon the visitors instead of being forced upon him, as is the case in most hotels, even of the first-class.

HOTEL ST. REGIS.

The wonderful banquet hall deserves a page alone, and even then the subject would not be exhausted. Every salon has a Steinway piano. R. V. V. Sewell's decorative panels of "Cupid and Psyche" here represent art in the true sense of the word. They are to be found at the upper panels of the room. The cafe, which is paneled throughout in English quartered oak, bids one a warm welcome with its atmosphere of genuine cheer and comfort.

A feature that also commands attention is the kitchen. Here Twentieth Century genius shows marvelous results. Scientific conditions and improvements are introduced for the first time. White tile and glass top counters and tables, with a series of improved machinery, presents a food-producing place positively unequaled in the world.

Another important, and, at the same time, unique, feature of life in the St. Regis, is the arrangement for supplying pure air throughout the house. You close your windows to ventilate your rooms, for filtered air enters the various apartments through unobtrusive gratings, often concealed in the ornamental bronze works or decorations. The process of filtering the air is original and on simple scientific lines. The guest has only to turn the dial in his room to hot or cold to be supplied with air according to his liking. It gives a perfect atmosphere and temperature during every season of the year.

The location of the St. Regis makes it conveniently near the shopping, business and amusement districts of the city and is easy of access by all the means of communication.

In short, the St. Regis is an admirable hotel, admirably situated, and not only are New Yorkers beginning to appreciate the many merits of this Twentieth Century triumph of hotel progress, but visitors from other cities, and, in fact, from every country of the world, are now aware that New York has something in the hotel line that is distinctive, delightful, homelike, magnificent—perfect, both from the esthetic and utilitarian standpoints—and affording absolute quiet and genuine comfort under the most healthful conditions to be found, perhaps, in any hotel in the world.

The New York Herald of May 30 printed an interview with Mr. R. M. Haas, proprietor of the St. Regis, who sailed on that date for a three months' holiday in Europe and incidentally to transact some business in connection with the hotel. Mr. Haas said in part:

"The impression was spread throughout this country and in Europe that no one could spend a night in the St. Regis without expending a small fortune. Playful exaggerations were accepted by strangers as statements of fact. Many persons, I have no doubt, still think that it costs twenty-five dollars a day to obtain the most modest accommodations here, although there are plenty of rooms in the St. Regis for five dollars a day.

"It has been precisely the same with the menu. The most expensive articles on the bill of fare have been selected and described as 'the frugal fare of the St. Regis.' This idea of excessive prices, I am happy to say, has been generally dispelled. I leave tomorrow for an absence of three months and my mind is easy because I know that the public, for whom this hotel was built, has gained the correct idea of its policy.

"The suite which has been called the 'state suite' and the 'royal suite' and the other most handsomely furnished apartments, have been the most continuously occupied."
